GRAND JURY GETS DANIELS CASE

Claims Big Red 'Take' In Hollywood

Ex-Leader Of Party Testifies

Describes Group As '5th Column'

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Louis Budenz, repented communist, told senators today that the Communist party gets "a very big financial take" from Hollywood.

The former managing editor of the Communist Daily Worker, who quit the Communist party to become a Fordham university professor, testifield in a senate expenditures subcommittee inquiry into communist infiltrations into the government.

He described the communist party of the United States as "a fifth column of soviet Russia."

He named the late Jacob Golos as head of a highly secret Communist party control commission in this country—an agency he said was used to discipline party members and keep them in line.

GROUPS 'HIGHLY SECRET'

Golos was the chief contact with the party for Miss Elizabeth Bentley, admitted onetime Soviet spy, who has testified that she got military secrets from government officials and workers which were channeled to Moscow.

Budenz said that the control commission and the party's finance committee were highly secret organizations, even within the party.

Chairman Ferguson (R-Mich) asked how the communists got money to finance their operations.

Budenz said that dues accounted for some funds, gifts from wealthy persons for others, adding:

"There was a very big take from Hollywood.

"In fact, it was so great that there was a dispute within the party about it.

"The California district wants to keep the money, but the finance committee ruled that it must go to the national office and then be distributed."

GET FOREIGN FUNDS

Budenz said he was connected with the Midwest Daily Record in Chicago—a paper he said was controlled by the party. At that time he learned that the communists were receiving funds from abroad, he testified.

The former communist editor named William Weiner as head of the finance committee. He said Lemuel Harris, whom he described as "an off-spring of Wall Street," and the late Charles Crumbine were members of the powerful party finance committee.

He said that Golos, Clarence Derba and sometimes Alexander Biddleman, were members of the control commission.

He said this commission had complete information on communist party members—including who they associated and talked with, who they borrowed money from and what their relations were with

McVey Team Wins, 30-5

COLUMBUS — Mansfield's power-packed Legion Juniors walloped highly-regarded Cleveland, 30 to 5, here today and grabbed the spotlight in the American Legion state baseball tournament.

Lou Gregorio pitched and batted his mates to victory, allowing five scattered hits and blasting a three-run triple in the third inning. He paced the McVey Post team with five hits.

Gruber of Mansfield hit a home run with three on base.

Cleveland used five pitchers in a futile attempt to halt Mansfield's batting spree which netted 22 hits. Cleveland was charged with seven errors.

Lancaster and Cincinnati also won first round games as the tourney opened. Lancaster defeated Younistown, 3 to 1, and Cincinnati dropped Columbus, 6 to 1.

Each of the 14 teams will remain in the running until it has been defeated twice.

Fire Ravages Denver

DENVER — (INS) — Damage was estimated today at $250,000 in Denver's worst fire in more than two years.

The four-alarm blaze raged through two city blocks last night for six hours as a strong east wind whipped the flames.

Envoys Will Talk To Stalin

LONDON — (AP) — The London Star said today western power diplomats will see Prime Minister Stalin tonight in Moscow to discuss the Berlin crisis and other international affairs.

The newspaper said American, French and British envoys there will try "to determine the objective of Russian foreign policy." It added:

"They believe it is vital in the present state of international relations that there should be no misunderstanding about the foreign policy of the major powers. In this spirit Stalin will be clearly told the attitude of the western nations."

The British Press association said a meeting of Stalin with the western envoys is "expected" to take place tonight and "may lead to developments of the utmost importance."

The agency said that if the discussions are successful they could lead to a meeting of President Truman, Stalin, Prime Minister Attlee and French Premier Andre Marie.

The Star said the "sole purpose of the present Moscow discussions is to discover, whether a basis exists for four-power negotiations on all outstanding problems."

Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin indicated in the House of Commons last week that the Western Allies want to "ascertain" if there could be hope for a settlement that "may lead to peace and security in Europe for us all."

AMERICANS SILENT

American and British officials here were silent on developments in the Russian capital.

A spokesman at the United States embassy said "our people are not saying anything. All information must come from Washington."

The British foreign office turned away all inquiries, saying: "We can't say anything. That is the agreed procedure."

But a well-informed diplomatic source said here last night that diplomats of the three western powers have asked for a meeting with Stalin in an effort to settle east-west differences in Germany and all Europe.

Reds to Boss Key Danube

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia—(AP)—Russia circulated today a proposed Danube river pact which would give eastern Europe's communist-dominated states virtually exclusive control over the 1,800-mile long trade artery.

Andrei Vishinsky, Russian deputy foreign minister, told the 11-nation conference he will present the document formally tomorrow.

Its passage is regarded as a certainty without major change. The communist states outvote the western powers seven to three in this meeting. Austria sits as an observer without a vote.

Russia and her neighbors demonstrated their unity on the Danubian question in the first three conference sessions. The conference adopted a rule for a simple majority to govern decisions. France withdrew a proposal that the decisions be made by a two-thirds vote after Vishinsky opposed it.

The Russian proposal specifically would prohibit the use of the Danube waters by naval vessels of all non-Danubian countries.

Wanders With $1395 Cash

COLUMBUS —(AP)— A 72-year-old man with $1395 in his pockets was found by sheriff's deputies wandering around a nearby quarry early today.

The deputies said the man refused to tell them his name but they had found two letters in his pockets which identified him as John Miller. Deputies quoted him as saying he had more money than that found in his pockets but refused to tell them where it was hidden.

Fail to Recognize Each Other

Sisters Reunited After 37 Years

By EILEEN DEWHURST

Thirty-seven years is a long time for sisters to be separated. It is so long that Mrs. Nelson Snodgrass and her sister, Mrs. Malcolm MacMillan, didn't recognize each other when they were reunited in Mansfield recently.

Mrs. MacMillan came to Mansfield from Argyllshire, Scotland, to visit her "baby sister" who left Scotland in 1911. She will spend the rest of the summer at the Snodgrass home at 169 South Franklin avenue.

"You have to have coupons to buy anything in Scotland," Mrs. MacMillan said, expressing amazement at the plentiful food supply here. "We only get a little margarine and a wee bit of butter," she explained in her Scottish brogue.

Mrs. MacMillan was horrified at first when her sister put so much food on the table for one meal. She delicately suggested that they had better save some for the next day.

But while she likes having plenty of food, she doesn't like Mansfield weather. It's much hotter than her home near the Atlantic ocean, and the thunderstorms frighten her. "When it storms and I'm upstairs in bed I'm afraid the house is coming down," she said.

Mrs. MacMillan also is disappointed that her sister has lost so much of her native brogue. She can't understand why 37 years in this country should make such a difference.

THIRD SISTER ARRIVES

Another sister of Mrs. Snodgrass, Miss Margaret Harvey, of New York City, is visiting at the Snodgrass home. She met Mrs. MacMillan's ship in New York and came to Mansfield with her. Miss Harvey had not seen Mrs. MacMillan since she took a trip to Scotland 19 years ago.

The tree sisters were born in Scotland. Two other sisters and four brothers still live there. Mrs. Snodgrass and Miss Harvey came to this country in 1911 to help their cousin, Mrs. E. A. Leech, who operated the old Tremont hotel.

TOGETHER AGAIN—Mrs. Nelson Snodgrass, left, entertains her two sisters, Mrs. Malcolm MacMillan, middle, whom she hadn't seen for 37 years, and Miss Margaret Harvey of New York.

This is Mrs. MacMillan's first trip to the United States and she met her brother-in-law, Nelson Snodgrass and her niece, Mrs. Jerry Anderson, for the first time when she arrived here.

She made the voyage from Scotland on the S. S. America and is full of praise for the American ship. "It was a lovely boat and the food and everything was wonderful," she said.

Mrs. MacMillan brought some souvenir aprons and handkerchiefs, but she couldn't bring much because of the scarcity of coupons needed to buy necessities.

"My four boys were better fed when they were in service than they are now," Mrs. MacMillan said.

Mrs. Snodgrass still can't believe that her sister is really here.

"It was such a thrill knowing she was coming and then seeing her, but it still seems like a dream."

No Second Call Looms

Truman to Take Fight to People

(By Associated Press)

A close associate said today in Independence, Mo., that President Truman has no intention of calling Congress back for a second extra session.

This official, who declined to be quoted by name, said the President will pin his hopes for election on his differences with the Republican leadership over price control, housing and other domestic issues.

He said Mr. Truman is not likely to send any further message to the present extra session.

In Washington, Paul Porter, the administration's anti-inflation chief, said today Congress has been wasting "much precious time" in its consideration of President Truman's economic program. He blamed politics for the inaction.

Meanwhile, GOP Presidential Candidate Thomas E. Dewey may be keeping hands off the special session of Congress personally, but an effective "grapevine" has been set up in his behalf.

The "grapevine," Republican congressional leaders said today, is Herbert Brownell jr., the New York governor's campaign manager. Brownell has set up headquarters in Washington for the Dewey campaign, and party leaders on Capitol Hill have been in frequent contact with him.

Pilots Win Trophies, Cash In Tests

Thousands See Plane Races, Airport Show

Thousands of Mansfield area persons witnessed the 1948 Mansfield Airplane Efficiency races yesterday afternoon as 24 planes raced over a course from Mansfield to Cochocton, then Millersburg and back to Mansfield.

The entrants in the first Mansfield Efficiency race, conducted by Richland Aviation, Incorporated, were judged on a basis of navigation, speed and gas consumption, and represented almost every airfield in Ohio.

WINNERS NAMED

The first place winners of trophies and cash prizes in the seven different airplane types were: Jack Hope, Bellville, Aeronca class; Dr. Myron S. Reed, 677 Maple street, Seabee class; Charles Brissell, 471 Sloane avenue, Ercoupe class; James Gorman III, 600 Woodland road, Luscombe class; Dr. M. D. Harnly, 807 Park avenue west, Navion class; Theodore Male, Cleveland, Swift class, and Lloyd Amato, Shelby, Beech class. Helen Venskus, Ashland, was presented with a special award for over-all high score in efficiency.

Marge Newcomber, Ashland, was presented with a trophy for placing first in an accuracy landing contest, averaging 16½ feet from landing target in three trials.

Other entertainment features were formation flying by Army planes and a show by gas and jet powered model planes.

Dave Robinson officiated during the efficiency race and Elmer Cash officiated during the accuracy landing contest.

Officials during the two contests were: Virgil Morgan, Charles Swain, Mayor Roy Vaughn, Maj. Robert Hall, Charles Essick and E. O. Morton judges; Ralph Disler, Earl Garrison, timers; George Geib, starter; E. C. Pankow, measurer; and Ray Wittemire, gas recorder.

COVER 3,000 MILES

During the race and contest at the municipal airport total mile coverage by all contestants was between 2,500 to 3,000 miles and total gas consumption by all planes entered in competition was 195 gallons.

The gasoline was furnished by the Standard Oil company and the Richland Aviation corporation.

Wife Sold For $6.50

SHANGHAI—(AP)—Chow Nan-Fu, a refugee from northern Kiangsu, was broke so he sold his wife to Ma Feng-Wen for 55,000,000 Chinese dollars ($6.50 U. S.).

Mrs. Chow didn't like it and complained to police.

Ma was arrested but Chow is still at large.

Guard Set To Act In Lens Row

Union Rejects Strike Accord

DAYTON — (AP) — The Ohio National Guard will march in to maintain order if the Univis Lens company wishes to reopen its strike-bound plant, Mayor Louis Lohrey announced today.

He said Gov. Thomas J. Herbert had promised to send in the guard should the company, plagued with violence, try to reopen tomorrow.

The management will decide late today whether to attempt it.

The company refused to resume operations today when a tentative agreement to end the 90-day strike fell through.

Rank-and-file members of the CIO United Electrical Workers rejected a settlement agreement reached by their leaders and company officials.

As they threw up another heavy picket line at the plant, Gov. Thomas J. Herbert expressed "complete disappointment" and declared he would send in the National Guard if fighting broke out again.

Despite an injunction limiting pickets, approximately 200 of them assembled at the plant entrance. All but six dispersed, however, when non-striking workers heeded a company appeal and did not appear.

The union appealed to other unions to send pickets to the plant tomorrow in event the company should seek to resume operations.

"Be on the picket line at 6:30 a. m., tomorrow," Bruce Van Winkle, a shop committeeman for the UE, shouted over a public address system to unionists at the plant entrance.

DEFY GUARD

"Let's see what the guard looks like. They'll be there."

The agreement of the UE leaders and the company to end the 90-day strike was rejected by members of local 768 six hours after it was signed. The vote of rejection was announced as unanimous.

Arthur L. Garfield, international UE representative who promised that the rank-and-filers would ratify the proposed settlement, said later he would ask Mayor Louis Lohrey to arrange another conference with the management.

Herbert said he was completely disappointed over the rejection. He added the understanding was that the "leaders were empowered to reach a settlement and put into writing the terms they (the union leaders) asked."

Sub Joins Plane Hunt

PARIS—(INS)—A vast air, sea and submarine search of the eastern Atlantic was underway today for a giant Air France seaplane—the world's largest commercial airliner—missing with 51 persons aboard. A submarine joined the hunt this morning.

The huge 79-ton plane vanished Saturday night while on a flight from Martinique, French island in the Caribbean to Port Etienne, French West Africa.

The luxurious craft carried a crew of 11 and 10 passengers. No Americans were aboard.

Paris officials of Air France expressed increasing anxiety over the plane's fate because of the absence of any radio contact. They said that only a "brutal shock" could render the airliner's powerful radio equipment inoperative.

Has 3rd Set Of Twins In 27 Months

AKRON —(AP)— The 30-year-old wife of a chemical company worker was in good condition in Peoples' hospital today after giving birth to her third set of twins in 27 months.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Summers, live in nearby Doylestown. Summers is 32.

The latest arrivals, Charles and John, weighed four pounds each at birth yesterday and like their brothers and sisters were premature. They were reported "doing fine." Susan and Patricia, the first set, were born May 26, 1946, and Micnael and Paul, the next two, Sept. 2, 1947.

Secret Probe Under Way, Chief Claims

Ownership of New 'Bookie' Not Known

A secret investigation into operation of a new horse race bet booking establishment in Mansfield is under way by city police, Chief Jesse Schwab said today.

Extent or direction of the investigation went undisclosed, however, as Schwab added:

"I am not at liberty to disclose any police movement at this time."

The new horse race betting place was discovered by a News-Journal reporter last Friday at 186½ North Main street. The reporter went there after receiving an anonymous telephone "tip." Opening of the new place follows closing a week ago of the "old established" race book on South Main street, which closed without comment either from officials or the operator.

OWNERSHIP SECRET

There has been no disclosure, so far, as to who owns or operates the newly-opened establishment, which takes up the entire second floor at the Main street location.

Neighbors in the area of the new gambling establishment told reporters they "don't like the idea."

Meanwhile, another form of open commercialized gambling—punchboards, poker sheets, baseball pools and tip boards—continued to be operated over the counters of poolrooms, cigar stores, newsstands, etc.

'Flying Yo-Yo' Now Added To Things In Sky

COLUMBUS —(INS)— The west may have its flying discs and Georgia its flying monsters and fireballs, but Columbus has a black yo-yo cloud.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Yantis reported they were about a mile west of Groveport near Columbus yesterday when they spotted the dark ball. They said it snapped itself into a mile-long streamer and rolled back into a black blob several times as it zig-zagged through the sky.

The couple said it was about 2 p. m. and they watched the quick-changing cloud for about five minutes.

Port Columbus and Lockbourne air base officials said they never heard of such a thing.

UN Men Shot From Ambush

JERUSALEM—(INS)—Israel announced today that two members of a United Nations truce observers team were wounded when Arabs ambushed a Jerusalem-bound convoy.

The incident was announced as scattered outbreaks of fighting were reported from many parts of Palestine—including Jerusalem.

The announcement said that the Arabs fired a convoy, proceeding under U. N. observation, near the Trappist monastery near Latrun. Several vehicles were damaged, but the convoy managed to get through to its destination.

ELOPE TO TIJUANA

LA JOLLA, Calif.—(AP)—Actor Gary Moore and Miss Nancy Walker of the New York musical comedy stage eloped to Tijuana, Mex., yesterday.

Report Expected Yet Today

Secret Session Opens at 10 A. M.

The most brutal murder case in Richland county history was taken before the county grand jury today.

Called into session about 10 a. m., the jurors started consideration of three first-degree murder charges against Robert Murl Daniels, accused of slaying John E. Niebel, reformatory farm superintendent; his wife, and their daughter, Phyllis.

Prosecutor Theodore Lutz said he hoped to complete his presentation of evidence this afternoon and get the grand jury's report by late today.

Daniels, former Mansfield reformatory inmate, was not scheduled to appear before the jury. He is held under special guard in the county jail.

Dozens of curious spectators gathered in the vicinity of the jail and courthouse this morning, hoping to get a glimpse of Daniels, surviving member of a team which staged one of the worst crime waves in the memory of Ohioans.

The other killer, John Coulter West, 22, Parkersburg, W. Va., was shot to death July 23 at a road block near Van Wert. Daniels was brought here last Thursday to face charges in the Niebel slayings.

Daniels confessed shortly after his capture near Van Wert that he was the trigger man in the Niebel killings.

Sheriff Roy Shaffer of Van Wert county, who captured Daniels, came here to appear before the jury today. Other witnesses were expected to include Coroner D. C. Lavender of Richland county, who examined the bodies of the slaying victims, Sheriff Frank E. Robinson, and other officers who aided in the investigation.

Presence of sheriff's deputies and Mansfield police indicated that the grand jurors would receive the cases of other persons bound over to the grand jury.

The grand jury of the May term of court is headed by Thomas D. Brown, 178 West Second street, as foreman. This grand jury convened in May and was recessed after several days of considering cases, subject to recall at any time.

24-HOUR LIMIT

If the jurors should return indictments against Daniels for the Niebel slayings, then copies of these indictments would have to be presented to Daniels 24 hours before he is arraigned in common pleas court.

On arraignment, he would enter his plea of guilty or innocent.

In the event he pleads guilty, two other judges would be appointed to hear the case with Common Pleas Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch. They would decide if Daniels goes to the electric chair or escape with a prison sentence.

In the event that Daniels pleads innocent, the case would be heard by a jury. However, Daniels could wave trial by jury and ask that three judges hear the case.

A jury trial could not be started for at least 30 days.

Serving on the grand jury, besides Brown, are Dora Strimple, 405 Taylor road; Clyde Bowser, Fairfax avenue; William W. Gross, 37 Chilton avenue; Daniel Reese, 665 Yale drive; Claude Bradley, 68 Chilton avenue; Ruby Wells, 196 Waring avenue; L. D. Bower, 468 Sturges avenue; Charles Avery, 74 Marion avenue; C. C. Flood, Mansfield, R. D. 3; Otis Sowash, 539 West Fourth street; Arthur Sayles, Mansfield, R. D. 6; Frank Kohler, 350 North Townview Circle; D. C. Cole, Glessner avenue, and Donald H. Hamman, Shiloh.

Hog Prices Hit New High In Cleveland

CLEVELAND — (UP) — Hog prices in the Cleveland Union stockyards hit a high of $32 per hundred pounds today in what was believed a world's record for wholesale hog prices.

Local packers paid a top of $32 per hundredweight for best quality receipts on one load while other hog loads moved at $31.75 for a hundred pounds.

The prices eclipsed previous all-time highs of $31 at the Chicago stockyards set last week and equalled today.

Did It For Friendship

Police Officer Admits Hiding Gun In Murder Case

YONKERS, N. Y. — (AP) — A 24-hour search for the gun Dr. Francis E. Kent, 52, allegedly used to kill his wife ended today when one of the officers investigating the murder admitted hiding the weapon, police reported.

Deputy Safety Commissioner William J. Comey said that Patrolman Anthony J. Milano, who had a spotless, 18-year record on the force, confessed hiding the gun under a bridge near Kent's fashionable home, scene of the slaying.

Police said the gun, a .32 calibre revolver, was easily located.

Comey said fellow officers became suspicious of Milano when the veteran asked to be taken off the case and because his written report of the murder was "sketchy."

Kent, who police said admitted killing his wife because she "nagged him beyond endurance," was Milano's family physician for 15 years.

The patrolman, arrested and charged with being an accessory after the fact, was held in $2,500 bail.

Milano was among the first of the police to reach the physician's home. Authorities said the patrolman admitted hiding the pistol "out of friendship for Dr. Kent."

Less than an hour after he was booked on a murder charge Kent attempted to hang himself in his prison cell with a pair of socks. A guard discovered him "just in time," police said.

Kent, who built up a prominent practice here during the past 22 years was a former assistant surgeon general of the Army. He was arrested late Saturday.

Kent, according to police, said his wife nagged him about keeping company with another woman. Police said Kent told them his wife's accusations were unfounded.

MISS CHARLOTTE GRAY WED IN CHURCH RITE

Rev. Frank Stewart Officiates for Service In First Methodist Church Sunday Afternoon.

MISS MARY CHARLOTTE GRAY, daughter of Mrs. J. Wilbur Gray, 65 West Park boulevard, became the bride of Richard W. McFarland, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Mentzer McFarland, R. D. 1, Lucas, in a pretty church rite Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The Rev. Frank Stewart, pastor of Central Methodist church, officiated for the double ring service which was conducted in the First Methodist church. Open church was observed.

Mrs. Richard Wolford was the organist and Mrs. Wanda Hess Donnan presented several special vocal numbers.

Two beauty baskets filled with white gladioli and pompons stood before the altar and they were flanked by two seven-branched candelabra holding tall, lighted tapers. Palms and ferns provided the background for the setting. The ends of the pews were decorated with large white satin bows.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her mother, wore an imported dotted white marquisette gown over satin. The bodice was fitted and extended below the natural waistline. It was trimmed with a bertha edged with a narrow ruffle of the same material. The bodice closed in back with a row of self-covered buttons. The long sleeves ended in lace points over the hands and the square neckline was edged with the same lace. The lace was brought here from France after the first World War by the bride's uncle. The front of the skirt was trimmed with a cascade of ruffles, the last one edging the medium length train.

The fingertip veil fell from a Juliet cap of seed pearls. It was made of French imported illusion. The bride carried an ancestral handkerchief belonging to her family.

White roses and pompons made up the bride's bouquet and the arrangement was centered with a hybrid orchid.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Howard Perathaner and she wore a lime green marquisette gown over green taffeta. Mrs. Edward Wysocki, Tipp City, also attended the bride and her gown was of pale yellow. Both costumes were similar to the bride's. Mrs. Perathaner carried rose pink asters tied wth green satin ribbons and Mrs. Wysocki carried purple asters tied with yellow satin ribbons.

The bride's mother chose a pale blue dress embroidered in white. Her large white straw hat was trimmed with pale blue to match her dress. Her other accessories were white. She wore a corsage of ping gardenias. Mrs. McFarland's dress was a sheer navy blue and her accessories and gardenia corsage were white.

Richard Arehart, Lucas, was Mr. McFarland's best man and the ushers were Duane Berry, Lucas; Dean Swigart, Lucas; Charles Kayler, Mansfield, and Paul Eckert, Lexington.

The bride's home was the scene of the reception which followed the ceremony. Only the families and the bridal party were present. The wedding cake was four-tiered and white flowers were arranged on the serving table to complete the decorations.

The couple left later for a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination. Mrs. McFarland wore a pink summer Palm Beach suit with white accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

When they return they will reside at R. D. 1, Lucas.

Mrs. McFarland was graduated from Mansfield Senior high school and has been employed as a deputy clerk in the Richland county auditor's office. Her husband is a graduate of Lucas high school and is engaged in farming.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were from Sturges, Ky.; Los Angeles, Calif.; Cleveland, Oxford, Shelby and Ashland.

Sisters of Couple Fete Bride-Elect

A miscellaneous shower was given recently in honor of Miss Margaret Berry, bride-elect of William J. Dune, 135 South Glenn avenue. Miss Mary Berry and Miss Dwan Dune, sisters of the couple, were hostesses at the Berry home in Lexington.

Garden flowers and candelabra were used to decorate the oblong table upon which the gifts were arranged. Each guest brought her favorite recipe to contribute to Miss Berry's recipe file.

Games were the diversion and prizes were awarded to Mrs. Frank Sedlak, Mrs. Robert Creps and Mrs. Delbert Holliday, grandmother of the honoree.

Mrs. Elsie Ireland accompanied the group in singing.

Refreshments were served after the honoree opened her shower gifts.

The wedding ceremony will be conducted Sunday, Aug. 8, at 3:30 p. m. in the First English Lutheran church.

Mansfielder Married at Quantico, Va.

Sgt. Howard R. Hunt and his bride, the former Miss Harriet Jean Patch, are residing at the Marine Corps base at Quantico, Va., since their marriage July 15 at the chapel there. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Patch, R. D. 4, and Sgt. Hunt's parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Hunt, Wooster.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Harter, Wooster, Sgt. Hunt's sister and brother-in-law, attended the couple.

The bride wore a dark green satin afternoon dress fashioned with a bertha across the shoulders and a large bow in front. Her jewelry included a pearl pendant on a white gold chain and a braided metal bracelet with the Marine Corps emblem, which was a gift from the bridegroom. Her accessories were black and her shoulder corsage was a white orchid.

A reception for 50 guests was given at the enlisted men's club. The bride's cake was three-tiered and topped with a miniature bridal pair. The couple cut the cake with Sgt. Hunt's captain's sword.

Mrs. Hunt attended Madison high school here.

The couple will remain at the base until May when Sgt. Hunt will have served his four-year enlistment time and will be discharged.

MRS. MAHLON HENRY JUDY

* * *

Miss Anna Helen Bayer Becomes Bride of Mahlon Judy Sunday

BEFORE an altar decorated with palms, two beauty baskets of white gladioli mixed with pink and lavender flowers and two candelabra, Miss Anna Helen Bayer became the bride of Mahlon Henry Judy, Sunday. The Rev. Herbert S. Garnes officiated for the single ring service at 3 o'clock in St. Luke's Lutheran church.

Miss Bayer is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin H. Bayer, 151 Blymyer avenue, and Mr. Judy is the son of Mrs. Ross W. Judy, 87½ Park avenue west.

Mrs. Fred Cahall presided at the organ for the pre-nuptial music. Miss Margaret Berry, close friend of the bride, played three violin selections.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown and veil made by her sister-in-law, Mrs. M. L. Bayer. It was of white marquisette embroidered in plume motif, with a tight-fitting basque. The sheer net yoke was fastened with diminutive pearl buttons and the dress had short puff sleeves. The bride wore full length net mitts, matching the yoke and veil. A hip-length nylon net veil was attached to a small net cap appliqued with two plumes matching the dress.

The only jewelry worn by the bride was a small diamond-set gold cross, a gift from the bridegroom. Miss Bayer carried a bridal sheaf bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and pale lavendar delphinium tied with satin streamers.

Miss Ruth M. Vrbanac, close friend and former classmate of the bride, was the maid of honor. Miss Peggy Bayer and Miss Charlene Bayer, nieces of the bride, were the junior bridesmaids. All the attendants wore gowns fashioned like the bride's. They were in orchid marquisette over petal-pink, embroidered with plume gloves and white French plumes completed with short white nylon gloves and white Wrench plumes worn in their hair. The attendants carried colonial bouquets of pale pink carnations and pale lavendar delphinium.

Mrs. Bayer chose a rose crepe print dress with white accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Judy wore a white crepe print dress with white accessories. Both mothers had gardenia corsages.

Michael L. Bayer, brother of the bride, was the best man.

Harold Doerr and Carl L. Stough, both close friends of the groom, escorted the guests to their pews marked with white satin ribbons.

A reception for 150 guests was held in the church parlors immediately following the ceremony. The table was centered with a four tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom. Pink and white appointments were used. Tapers and beauty baskets were placed on the long white table. Mrs. John Vrbanic, mother of the maid of honor, assisted with the reception details.

When the couple left for a honeymoon to Lake Erie, the bride was wearing a terra cotton cord suit with white pique trim. She wore a small white hat trimmed with nylon net and bows to match the suit. Her corsage was of white roses. After August 8 the couple will be at home at 178 West Third street.

The bride graduated from Mansfield Senior high school and the Jewish Hospital School of Nursing in Cincinnati, Ohio. She was in the Army Nurse corps for one year, and is a member of the American Nurses' Association. Mr. Judy is a graduate of Mansfield Senior high school. He attended Shields School of Art. The bridefroom served two years with the 6th Armored Infantry, 1st Armored Division in the North African campaign. He is a member of the Masons, Mansfield Lodge 35.

Mrs. Judy is a registered nurse employed at the Mansfield Veterans Administration office as a staff nurse. Mr. Judy is affiliated with the Mansfield Asphalt Paving company.

Out-of-town guests were present from Cleveland, Lorain, Wooster, Columbus, Mt. Gilead, Rome, Fredericktown, Jeromesville, Fremont, and New York, New York.

Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. Judy were honored at a combination pantry shower and rehearsal party given by Mr. and Mrs. Michael L. Bayer, 560 West Third street. Twenty guests were in attendance.

The honorees were presented gifts from the mantel, labeled "Pantry Shelf." It was decorated like a shelf used in a pantry.

A recording of Mendelssohn's wedding march was played as Mr. Judy escorted his bride to a long table centered with sweet peas and snapdragons. Pink and white appointments were used. The bride's attendants served the guests at the table.

The evening was spent socially following the rehearsal.

Nuptial Vows Exchanged Here For Loudonville Girl, Local Man

MISS ALVENA LEATHEROW, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Leatherow of Loudonville, became the bride of Howard Bonham, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Bonham of this city, July 18. The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. J. Campbell White at his home, Park avenue west.

The bride chose for her wedding a white street length dress, made Princess style, with sweetheart neckline. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls and she wore a corsage of red roses and baby's breath, tied with white ribbons. Her accessories were in navy blue.

Following a short wedding trip to Chicago the couple will reside at 85 East Second street, with the bridegroom's parents.

Mrs. Bonham is a graduate of Loudonville high school and of the Minnick Beauty school. She is now employed in Ashland. Mr. Bonham served two and a half years in the Marine Corps, one and a half of which was spent in the Pacific Islands and China. He is employed at the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company.

MRS. J. A. KNAPP

Msgr. R. C. Goebel officiated July 24 for a single ring wedding ceremony uniting Miss Elizabeth Konig and Joseph A. Knapp. The rite was solemnized in St. Peter's Catholic church at 8:15 a. m. The bride is the daughter of Michael Konig, 258 Grace street, and Mr. Knapp's mother is Mrs. Clara Knapp, Lexington Springmill road. The couple will reside at the Grace street address.

Horoscope

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Tuesday, Aug. 3

The prospects are most propitious for pushing to major objectives, in which matters of large scope and of peculiar angles, must be handled with exceptional calm, consideration and preeaution against possible hidden factors and strange contacts. The feelings and emotions, as well as ideals and imaginary ideas, should be held in realms of reason. With matter-of-fact manipulation, intriguing and alluring situations could unfold constructively. Maintain composure and keep alert.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, may be wise to keep alert to the development of strange, irregular or unique situations or propositions outside the realm of the realistic and commonplace. A subtle under-current may unfold, in which hidden circumstances could be manipulated with strategic force to exceptional heights of achievement. Feelings, emotions and imagination being a strong element in making decisions, or influencing agreements, the situation might prove critical as well as intriguing and glamorous. Curious circumstances demand logic and regulation tactics, in personal, intellectual and business activities.

A child born on this day may be endowed with peculiar faculties, with ideals and aspirations of subtle force. With calm, composure and good sense exceptional experiences may develop.

Glow in the night lights, says CHARM, the magazine for the business girl. CHARM'S choice for gala evenings is an impudent red dress, the deep, round neckline demurely collared, the fitted bodice buttoned in rhinestones, the waist circled in cord, the skirt fullness blown to the back. Enchantingly feminine and festive, this dress will add color and excitement to your fall and winter wardrobe.

Schedule of Coming Events

TUESDAY

Library committee, Women of the Moose — Meeting at the home of Mrs. Dallas Tupps, 312 Venum avenue.

Heigh-Ho club — Picnic at South park.

Blue Star Mothers — Important business meeting at YMCA clubrooms.

Order of Rainbow for Girls, Advisory Board — Meet at 7:30 p. m. in the Masonic Temple. Mrs. Virgil Hartman, chairman, in charge.

Women's Missionary society of the First Christian church—Picnic at South park.

Catholic Ladies of Columbia—Annual covered dish supper at 6:30 p. m. at North Lake park; Mrs. P. G. Renie and her committee in charge.

In the city, it's the little things that count, so for style, it is suggested a pure silk scarf in a new "Around the Town" print to tie under the collar of a tailored dress, to wear at the neckline of your fall suits. With a motif of quaint brick buildings, odd shops, and narrow streets, the print captures, authentically, the leisurely mood of the old part of town.

Children All Ages Love Good Companionship with Their Dads

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

YOU AND I know some wonderful fathers. Musing on them the other night I wrote the following lines:

You know, I have the nicest dad
That any boy ever had.
He reads to me, and on a walk
My dad and I will talk and talk.
On sunny days as in bad weather,
We do a lot of things together.
He buys me things to make and do.
I love my daddy.
Wouldn't you?

Such a father enjoys his little son or daughter. They enjoy each other. From these early happy days together the father and child build for happy days together later. You and I know dads who are wonderful companions to their son or daughter when the child is three, twelve, fifteen, thirty.

It's the teen-age son who profits most from such companionship. When he and the father do things together, go places together, especially to games, or on a fishing or hunting trip they may gain from each other an abiding comradeship and affection.

How wonderful when the father is his boy's favorite hero, especially when this father is a good model in integrity, ideals and citizenship! See, too, how this father may inspire his son to wish to make the most of himself. And if this father goes to church regularly, his son may be glad to go along with him. (My bulletin, "Fathers Are Parents, too," may be had in a stamped envelope.)

Returning to the younger child, the good father never considers himself too important to listen to the little child, to enjoy conversation with him, to answer kindly all his questions and always treat him as a sacred personality.

This good father begins to read to the baby as soon as the youngster will look at pictures for a few minutes at a stretch. He also may make up yarns for the little tyke to enjoy.

He keeps on reading to his boy or girl, even after school attendance begins. Later they read to each other right through high school or college. Together they discuss books and the current news and problems of the world.

This good father enjoys the tot's creations with things and words. Later they develop a home workshop together. To this workshop other children come to make things with them. Always this father, in choosing playthings and tools for his child considers how the child will use these things alone and with other children.

When this father plays a game with the young child, he does not "throw" the game more than half the time. He prepares this child to be a good loser as well as a graceful winner. He trains him to abide by the rules of the game. He cultivates good sportsmanship. This good father tries constantly to set the stage so that his child will have abundant wholesome fun with other children of about the same age—at two, at twelve, at sixteen. He attracts other children to the home.

When his children and their friends invite him to join in games he is happy to do so. Indeed, the whole family, sometimes with other children, enjoy all sorts of games together, not to mention family picnics.

Big Planes Conquering Bad Weather

'On-Time' Pilots Don't Miss A Flight

WILMINGTON —(AP)— The air force's "on-time" airline marks its second anniversary today with a record of having made 1,055 scheduled flights without cancellation no matter what the weather conditions.

And the airline, operating between the Clinton County Air Force base and Washington, delivered all 14,800 passengers safely during the two-year period.

"The airline's record itself is a tribute to careful testing of new equipment which will aid all flying," said Col. J. Francis Taylor, chief of the all-weather flying division at the AAF base.

"The schedule was set up to prove new equipment designed to make all weather flyable and we were ordered to maintain a military precision schedule which would not tolerate take-off or arrival error in excess of plus or minus 60 seconds."

"During all of the flights, totalling 45,510,000 airline miles, we had no injury to passengers or crews, and averaged only 30 seconds error in arrival and take-off schedule," Col. Taylor reported.

CHOSEN CAREFULLY

Personnel have been carefully chosen for the airline.

Pilots must have a minimum of 2,000 hours flying time, 30 hours advance meteorology, 30 hours engineering, 30 hours navigation, 12 hours CAA regulations, five hours theory of instruments, eight hours radio, 30 hours synthetic training and 100 hours of transitional flight training.

Fifteen night flights were scheduled and completed during the two years without change in routine, Col. Taylor reported.

Bad weather, while not the usual fare, was encountered many times during day and night flights, he added. Twenty-seven flights were completed in conditions under CAA minimus, defined as a 500-foot ceiling and one-mile visibility.

Six times in the two years, the airline completed flights on time and landed in zero-weather conditions.

"The contribution to safe all-weather flying made to date by the pioneer efforts of the planes and crews cannot be measured," Col. Taylor said, "but it is certain that a long step has been taken toward the day when all planes fly on schedule at all times and get there at the minute planned. The all-weather airline has done it for two years."

Steel Price Increase Sharper Than Consumers Anticipated

CLEVELAND —(UP)— Higher steel prices have been received with mixed emotions by consumers who feel that the advances "are much sharper than they had bargained for," the Magazine Steel reported today.

"Nevertheless, consumers are going along without too much grumbling, their major concern still being supply," the magazine of the industry said.

Steel added that the extent to which steel price and wage increases will be passed along to ultimate consumers of finished goods is still "uncertain." Most manufacturers "will await clarification of their cost and competitive positions before moving."

Steel producers have made upward revisions in price schedules averaging better than $9 a ton, the journal said, "but the situation continues extremely fluid as competitive weaknesses and inequalities of the individual steelmakers come to light.

"As a result, some time is likely to elapse before the market settles down to relative stability."

Differences in prices on various products at the separate producing points are contributing to steel buyers' confusion, Steel said, adding that some of the variations will disappear over coming weeks as producers adjust schedules to conform with actual competitive conditions.

Steel listed two factors for the lack of uniformity in prices: (1.) Many companies had been quoting certain products above the general market level prior to the price increase, and (2.) Abandonment of the basing point system of pricing has placed local producers in position to dominate home markets.

Steel said that all of the larger steel producers adopted the F. O. B. mill pricing method, and that before summer's end "it is believed certain the entire industry will be quoting on a mill basis."

The magazine's price composities rose further last week as details of the recent price adjustments unfolded. The arithmetical average on finished steel rose to $89.09 for the final two weeks of July compared with $80.27 at the beginning of the month and $75.41 for the final week of July, 1947.

One Left In Ohio GAR

LIMA —(AP)— Funeral rites will be held today for John R. Bennett, past state commander of Ohio's Grand Army of the Republic. Bennett, who was 103, died Saturday after an illness of three weeks. His death left John Grate, also 103, as Ohio's last survivor of the thousands who fought for the Union in the Civil War.

Expect 350 At Outing

Approximately 350 persons are expected to attend the Ohio State Guard association annual picnic Aug. 8 at Greters lake, R. W. St. John, association secretary, announced today.

The picnic will be a reunion for former members of Co. M of the Ohio State Guard who served together from June, 1941, to September, 1947.

The basket picnic for members, their families and friends will be under the supervision of association officers, H. E. Tremaine, president; R. W. St. John, secretary, and Donnell Gale, treasurer.

Stars Spend Too Heavily, Banker Says

HOLLYWOOD —(INS)—There are less than 10 actors and actresses in Hollywood who make $200,000 a year or more—and at least half of them are on an income of $300,000 a year or more.

A banker of 23 years in the movie capital says they "just won't learn. Soon as they get some money they spend twice as much."

He says there's a path worn to the door of the banks by actors who have borrowed to the hilt.

Some of the studios, like MGM, advance salary to their stars—those with reasonably good futures—for as much as two years ahead. Which is why one young lady is returning to work now—when she'd much rather stay away.

Many are selling the expensive homes they couldn't afford to maintain. Van Johnson, for instance, found he could not afford a $125,000 house, so he's moving into a smaller one.

Shelby K. of C. Plans Picnic

SHELBY —The annual picnic of the Shelby Knights of Columbus Council No. 1968 will be held Aug. 8 at Bethlehem, better known as the Shelby Settlement.

The general chairman will be Waldo Niese. Arrangements have been made for a ball game under the direction of Athletic Director John Gosser to be followed by lunch and refreshments. Top billing for the latter part of the evening will be music furnished by Leonard Reitschlin and his orchestra.

Protection of Food, Water By Electricity Studied

NEW YORK —(UP)— Six American concerns are financing a research project in electronics that may result in better milk, safer water, and preserve all foods indefinitely.

Scientists on the project are a group from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Boston, who have just reported preliminary results of sterilizing food products by exposing them to an electron beam or by X-rays.

Reporting in the Journal of Applied Physics, the MIT group said that x-rays produced at high voltage "readily destroyed" bacteria either in cultures or in liquids such as milk, water, apple juices.

They further reported that use of an electron beam from an accelerating device—a miniature "atom smashing" machine — produced quicker results.

It was further found that the exposure of the food products to the X-rays or electrons did not take away the quality even though the beams were strong enough to kill bacteria by 100 per cent.

OPENS NEW FIELD

Spokesmen for some of the firms said the project had opened a "new field" in the technique of sterlizing food products and preservation. Ultimately, they said that the technique might save many thousands of tons of food loss through spoilage. With all the bacteria killed, and the food kept uncontaminated, it might be preserved indefnitely.

The MIT experiments in water were especially significant. In some cities today it is necessary to use so much chemical substance to purify the water that the water has the taste of chemicals.

One spokesman said that the days of the milkman delivery man may be numbered. It was pointed out that if the technique could be made eco sible, then day-by-day deliveries of milk would n be ne

"A housewife," he said, "could buy her milk from the neighborhood store once a week, or once a month."

A spokesman for the American Meat Institute was not so optimistic. He said that X-rays penetrate meat only a half inch. The electron beam, however, may overcome that, it was said.

Ickes Memoirs Expose Sly Power Of Court Justice Frankfurter

WASHINGTON—The sly, insolent power of Felix Frankfurter in directing the destiny of the United States has never been spotted by a better authority than Harold L. Ickes, whose expose of this tip-toeing undercover agent nevertheless has gone almost unnoticed. Ickes pulled the whiskers off Frankfurter--his friend, Frankfurter, by the way—in an installment of his commercialized memoirs in the Saturday Evening Post.

In this piece Ickes writes that Frankfurter elbowed him out of the office of secretary of war, which Franklin D. Roosevelt was in a mood to trust to him.

We will not pause here to consider whether Ickes would have been better or worse than Henry L. Stimson, who actually did get the job.

★

The enormity of this is that Frankfurter, a justice of the Supreme court, was scurrying around lobbying and running the government. A man who served with Felix in one of the bureaus in Washington in the first world war told me not long ago that Felix once said to him and some associates that he envisioned a situation in which a small group of influential men, by audacity and initiative, could become the rulers of the United States by ruling the President.

Certainly in the second world war and for some time before this nation formally entered the war, Frankfurter did wield power over Roosevelt and the more important departments. His influence was exerted by subtlety. He had his men planted all over the place.

Call them proteges, call them his bright young men, or his happy hot dogs as the late Hugh Johnson often did. Call them secret agents, plants or stooges if you prefer. By whatever label you call them they were everywhere and the influence of one wily schemer sitting on the Supreme court and ostensibly removed from politics and ambition was working all the time. It still is at work although his power is waning now.

His sister Estelle, was in the so-called labor front of the administration, a bank of agencies actually arranged so as to protect the racketeers and monopolists, the royalistic profiteers and traitorous communists of the union racket.

It will be assumed that it was represented that she had unique, or at any rate valid, ability of her own for this employment.

We may envy the gifts of talent which blessed the Frankfurter family. And the two had a brother, also known at times, it seems, by the variation of "Frankfort," who was employed by the treasury for duties of trust in the spending of public money.

Later, Estelle got into the OSS, or office of strategic services. This was a silly but dangerous concern that was turned over to Bill Donovan of New York, a lawyer and a Jack-Republican, which is a western way of describing an in-wrong Republican, by Franklin D.

★

To provide a soft and safe refuge for friends of the administration, particularly the penthouse and Park avenue trash and night-club patrioteers who might not be communists but did their best to dissemble, if so. Assuming, as we must, that Estelle Frankfurter was not a communist, we then have to sympathize with her in having to put up with a lot of them day after day.

Apartment House on East River Provides Cosy Nook for Writer

NEW YORK —(AP)— The rhymester who wanted to live in a house by the side of the road can have it.

He said he just wanted to be a friend of man, but by now he probably would have turned his roadside abode into a filling station, a tourist inn or a vegetable stand.

I'll take my house by the side of a river, where the race of men go by in boats. Railroad cars float by, too.

My river is the East river, and the water wash with a fine impartiality the sinful banks of Manhattan and the moral shores of fair Greenpoint, the acme of Brooklyn.

My house stands on the Manhattan side. It is a quaint new brick cottage fourteen stories high, lost in a cluster of buildings that look as much alike as a rack full of cue balls.

★

The development was built by a big insurance company to hold 40,000 people, and it is one of the largest real estate ventures since the hanging gardens of Babylon.

The insurance company is a popular landlord. It reverses the dictum of most New York landlords: "Dogs, yes—children, no." Here man's best friend has to be smuggled in, but the leases allow the tenants all the children the Lord will send.

Life in a huge housing development has its aspects of grandeur. The insurance company didn't just send a gardener around with a hoe to pretty up the place. It dispatched a crew of bulldozers to level the land.

Then came landscapers in battalions They threw grass and crab apple trees around like Johnny Appleseed himself. The vines must be planted in some new kind of "grow-quick" They're climbing faster than the price of sirloin.

Having the same problems, the people are more companionable than in most sections of the big city. There was a shortage of doors for many months, and none were available for the closets.

Then one day the insurance company knocked on our portal. We opened, and there in the hall were about twenty men all holding doors.

They waited until each apartment was open. Some straw boss gave a signal, and the men all rushed into the different apartments and madly began hanging the doors.

★

Then they all rushed out. That's the way we do things in our development—the big way.

Another problem is the elevators, which get stuck occasionally. This happened the other day to a workman and two lady tenants.

"We rang the alarm bell and just sat down on the floor and talked until somebody came over and bailed us out," the workman told my wife, Frances. Some tenants now think the management ought to put a deck of cards or a small library in each elevator.

Rev. Staats Returned To Pastorate

Free Methodist Names Ministers

Rev. A. J. Staats, pastor of the Free Methodist church, Woodland avenue, was returned to the Mansfield pastorate at the close of the conference at the Lucas camp meeting grounds yesterday.

Rev. Staats was one of 43 ministers assigned to charges of the Ohio conference for the coming year. He returns to Mansfield for the sixth consecutive year.

Rev. W. M. Bates of the First Free Methodist church in Cleveland, was appointed superintendent of the Cleveland district; Rev. T. B. Orr of Galion was named superintendent of the Toledo and Canton districts. Rev. R. M. Maxwell, heads the Zanesville district.

Other pastors assigned in the Mansfield area include Rev. Stace Hoover, Ashland, and Big Prairie, and Rev. L. E. Guffey, Galion.

FUNDS PLEDGED

Yesterday afternoon during the missionary rally. $2,300 was raised for mission work abroad. Last night, at the general conference evangelism meeting, more than $600 was raised and pledged toward Free Methodist departmental work.

During the entire camp period, more than $6,000 was raised or pledged to carry on the various phases of Free Methodist work, Rev. T. B. Orr, superintendent of the Canton district, said today. Mansfield is a part of the Canton district.

There were capacity crowds, with standing rooms at a premium, in all the closing meetings yesterday, Rev. Orr said.

Four more meetings are scheduled for the camp this summer. Tomorrow the Church of Christ opens a youth conference, which will continue through Sunday. The Mennonites will have a Bible conference within the next three weeks, and later the Open Bible church expects to hold a convention at the camp grounds.

On Sept. 9 to 12, the young people of the Free Methodist church will gather for a youth rally.

State Plans Road Shift

County Engineer Walter E. Rusk reported today he has learned that the state highway department has completed plans for relocating State Route 95, between Newville and Perrysville. Two miles of the road lies in Richland county.

The new road would be about one-fourth mile north of the present location. The existing road has poor alignment and grade. Rusk said the department expects to ask bids on the project this month.

Funds for the highway were provided by the state and through a congressional appropriation to the Army engineers for replacing facilities that were made unsatisfactory by the building of the reservoirs. Water of the Charles Mill reservoir is backed up near the road.

VOTE ON CHARTER

EAST LIVERPOOL —(AP)— Between 3,500 and 5,000 of the city's 10,000 eligible voters are expected to cast ballots Tuesday in a special election on the question of drafting a new charter of government here.

GETS MOVIE ROLE—Miss Betty Underwood, Mansfield girl who has achieved success as a Powers model in New York, is currently cast in the role of model in "The Girl From Jones Beach," now being produced by Warner Brothers in Hollywood. Miss Underwood was "discovered" by Warner Brothers when she appeared in a Warner Pathe news-reel sequence in which she modeled hats. The role in "The Girl From Jones Beach" won't be Miss Underwood's first acting role. She has been with the Lennox Hills, N. Y., Playhouse, and with Uta Hagen's famous Shakespearean company. The new Warner Brothers picture stars Ronald Reagan, with Virginia Mayo and Eddie Bracken in the cast. Miss Underwood's mother, Mrs. Gladys Underwood, South Park street, expects to visit her daughter while she is in Hollywood.

Urges Young People Seek Good Counsel

Rev. Kenneth Frazer of Columbus told members of the "Youth for Christ Rally" Saturday night that they must seek advice both from God and their parents if they want to make wise decisions.

Often because of their lack of far-sightedness and their refusal to ask for advice, young people today live to regret all their lives the choices they make, Rev. Frazer told the group of several hundred young people at the John Simpson auditorium.

He used the story of Lot to illustrate his point, stressing the fact that Lot chose to live near the wicked city of Sodom and his loss and failure was the result of a selfish and unwise decision.

"You as young people must begin to make the right kind of decisions," Rev. Frazer said. "And you need the help of God in doing so."

MUSIC PROGRAM GIVEN

Preceding Rev. Frazer's talk, an hour's program of trumpet music was presented by Dick Messner, Ashland athlete and musician, accompanied by Miss Jacqueline Helvie, also of Ashland. Miss Helvie assisted in the program by playing three piano solos.

It was announced that the next Youth for Christ Rally on August 28, would feature a program by young people who plan to go to college in the fall. George McNair, Mansfield director, also announced that Gil Dodds, world-famous mile runner, would be the principal speaker for the meeting on Sept. 25.

Youth for Christ meetings are to be held the last Saturday of each month at 7:30 p. m. at the John Simpson auditorium. The meetings are for young people of all denominations.

G. H. Cole Dies at 24

George Hursh Cole, 24, press operator at the Tappan Stove company, died Sunday night at his home, 369 West Fifth street, after an extended illness.

Mr. Cole was born in Sedan, New Mexico, Aug. 200, 1923, coming to Mansfield in 1929. He was graduated from Mansfield high school in the class of 1941. He was a member of the Loyal Order of Moose and the Mayflower Congregational church.

Surviving are his wife, Ellen Louise Reeder Cole; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus A. Cole; two brothers, Phillip and Robert Cole, and a sister, Miss Elziabeth Cole, all of Mansfield.

Firemen Wash Gas From Street

Central station firemen were kept busy for more than an hour this morning, washing spilled gasoline from the Park avenue east subway. The gas came from a nearby service station, firemen said.

At 9:08 a. m., firemen from the station were called to 127 Sturges avenue where a smoking furnace caused a fire scare. Firemen said there was no fire.

July Banking Figures Hit Record Here

Clearings Reach New High of $22 Million

Bank clearings in July set a new record for a one-month period. The total of $23,355,152 was $1,867,228 more than the total of $21,487,924 for June which was the previous high for any one month. The July figure is $5,821,727 more than the total for the same month in 1947.

Bank clearing for the first seven months of 1948 total $142,968,239. The figure for the same period in 1947 was $119,790,950.

Postal receipts for last month were lower than those in June. Receipts for July are $42,222 as compared with $45,397 for June. However, the July receipts represent an increase of $4,228 over July, 1947, when receipts were $37,994.

TREND CONTINUES

Total receipts for the seven-month period ending July 31 were $328,099, an increase of $35,615 over the same period in 1947 when receipts totaled $292,483.

Last month was the 33rd consecutive month in which postal receipts have shown an increase over the corresponding month in the preceding year.

Pay Hiked At Shelby

New Contract For Ohio Tube

A new wage contract for approximately 550 employes of the Ohio Seamless Tube company of Shelby was in effect today after union ratification of a nine per cent wage raise late Saturday.

William F. Bell, staff representative of Local 169, United Steel Workers of America-CIO, said the wage raise will average 13 cents an hour across-the-board for the Shelby workers.

Provisions of the new contract, according to Bell, include extension of the contract to June 11, 1950; extension of the maintenance of membership and check-off of union dues until 1950; and provision for the re-opening of negotiations on wages Aug. 1, 1949, with a right to strike if no agreement is reached.

The agreement was reached between company officials of the Shelby company and officials of Local 3057 USWA late Friday.

Death Takes Mrs. Mabel Bird

Mrs. Mabel Beer Bird, wife of E. S. Bird of Los Alamos, N. M., died early today at People's hospital following several months illness.

Born in Mansfield, Mrs. Bird had spent the greater part of her life here. She was a graduate of Ashland college and the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music and had taught music in Richland and Ashland counties.

Surviving, besides her husband, are her mother, Mrs. Amanda Beer; one brother, Wilbur G. Beer and a sister, Miss Helen L. Beer, all of Mansfield.

The body is at the Wappner funeral home where services will be held Tuesday at 3 p. m., in charge of Rev. John G. Gensel. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery.

Held For Army

Franklin C. Cumming, 19, of Mansfield, R. D. 3, was held in county jail today for Army authorities. He was apprehended by the state highway patrol Saturday night at his home on instructions by the Army which said he had been absent without leave from Fort Meade, Md., since April 17.

BREAK CAMP—

The big truck rolled across the grounds, gathering up equipment as it went. Cars backed out of their parking spaces and there was general pandemonium. It sounded like a circus getting ready to move. It was the end of the two-week conference and camp of the Free Methodist church of Ohio. Delegates were breaking camp this morning, locking the doors of their cottages and folding up their tents until next summer. Camp equipment that is used each year will be stored in the wooden youth tabernacle. Pastors were returning to their old charges or looking forward to new assignments.

SMOKE SCARE—

There was considerable commotion at the E. L. Zehrbach home, 500 Park avenue west, Saturday when a blue racer climbed to the top of a shrub near the front porch for a nap. When Mrs. Zehrbach found the snake only two feet from the porch railing, she promptly summoned help from her husband. The man of the house armed himself with a stick and killed the snake. He found the reptile was four feet three inches long. Zehrbach said it was the first snake he had seen in the yard at his home.

Combines Busy On Sunday

Big Oats Crop Goes Into Bins

Sunday was no day of rest for dozens of Richland county farmers who went into the fields with combines to harvest their bumper oats crop.

Their work interrupted frequently in the past two weeks by showers, many farmers took advantage of the sunshine yesterday to get the grain under cover. Five combines were busy late in the afternoon between Mansfield and Olivesburg along State Route 545. The big machines whirred across fields in virtually every part of the county.

County Agent George B. Ganyard said the oats crop is much better than the 1947 yield which was hit by cold, wet weather. The crop is seeded in the spring.

While the recent rains have curtailed harvesting, they have boosted the prospects for other farm and garden crops in the county.

CORN LOOKS GOOD

Most corn in the county is looking good, and gardeners are having a big year.

Some sections of the county got a heavy rain last night. The Mansfield airport reported a fall of .46 of an inch.

The weatherman said today that mild weather is likely to stay for another day or two.

Cleveland's low of 53 degrees this morning came within one degree of the record low for Aug. 2. Higher temperatures and more humidity are in the making for around the middle of the week, the weatherman said.

The high temperature in Mansfield yesterday was 82; the low today, 54.

1,500 Hear 2 Concerts

Band Plays Final Program of Season

More than 1,000 persons heard the final summer band concent given by Local 159 of the American Federation of Musicians, last night.

The last of the four weekly concerts was taken into the Mansfield high school auditorium.

The concerts have been given at Stadium field. Louis Pete, director of music at Ashland college, has directed the programs.

Numerous requests had been received for a complete program of Sousa marches. The crowd got half of its wish last night when the band devoted nearly half of the program to the music of Sousa.

At North Lake park Smart's Studio Accordion band played before a crowd of about 500. Many of the listeners remained in their cars.

Edward DeWitt's solos from "Easter Parade" and "Melody Time" were particularly enjoyed by the crowd. Other vocalists were Elaine Wilkins, Mary Schreffler, and Leile Bowser.

Eugene Smart directs the band in the weekly concerts sponsored by the North Lake park association.

Vesper Service Attracts 300

More than 300 persons met at the Central Methodist church last night for the regular Sunday vespers, the first service to be held inside because of rain, since the summer series started on July 4.

Rev. V. C. Hodges, secretary of the American Bible Society of Cleveland, spoke for members of the Mitchel chapel, AME, who had charge of the services.

In his talk on "The Kingdom of God," Rev. Hodges said that Christ had never said what the Kingdom of God is, but rather said it is like certain things. First, Rev. Hodges said, Christ had described it like a mustard seed, or like a little bit of leaven, and again like something within ourselves.

Music for the service was presented by the choir of the Mitchell chapel, singing the spiritual "Thank Thee, Lord."

'Y' Campers Get Instructions For Trip to Canadian Wilds

The Mansfield YMCA Canadian Northwoods Canoe trip group will meet at Liberty park at 6:30 p. m. today to prepare for the trip leaving here Aug. 20, Maurice W. Taylor, YMCA general secretary, announced today.

The 17 boys and four fathers, who have already registered, will receive instructions concerning their required equipment for their two-week trip into the wilderness.

The group will leave Mansfield Aug. 20 and arrive at the base camp at Lake Temagimi near Ontario the next day," Taylor said.

"The majority of the adventurers will then start out on the northwoods canoe trails while the other members of the party remain at their camp, hiking, swimming and fishing," he said.

The boys and dads will receive additional instruction in bait casting tonight in Liberty park lake.

The group will use the casting equipment permanently anchored in the lake by the Mansfield Casting club and the Richland County Fish and Game Protective association.

Mansfield Grays Win State Baseball Title

Today's Sport Parade

By OSCAR FRALEY
(UP Sports Writer)

NEW YORK—(UP)—Professional football is going to be played again this season for the players and it is a situation which today promised an end this winter to the war between the older National league and the encroaching all American conference.

If the AAC managers to survive this fall, the hatchet will be buried and a football world series inaugurated

Meanwhile, just as a price war between two grocery stores would send the housewife into shopping ecstasy, so, too, this reverse football inflation is a thing of beauty to check-happy halfbacks and linemen with previously unlined pockets.

The All American conference moved into the scene two years ago, as eager to be friendly as the neighborhood gossip. The National league reaction was the same as a cop toward a pickpocket. It told the upstart to "go get a football." The All America did—along with most of the new crop of football stars graduated that spring from college.

It started oper. bidding. And, while the usual characterization of your football player is a cross between Mortimer Snerd and Gargantua, those college guys caught on quick. They played one against the other until a smart dickering star with an authentic All America title could parlay his reputation into early retirement.

Before the AAC set up shop, the National league had a tighter grip on the gridiron than John L. Lewis had on the coal fields. You played for them or took up squash racquets. So the finest halfbacks came at about $7,000 a season.

Today the best draw down as high as $25,000.

With 35 players on the roster, a club's payroll reaches the exclusive neighborhood of $350,000. Add salaries of coaches, trainers, training expenses for 60 men, traveling expenses, park personnel and upkeep and many other items and you are closer to the national debt than you are to a profit.

Dan Topping off the New York Yankees in the AAC confided recently that his football payroll would be greater this season than that of the baseball Yankees, noted as the most lavish paying team in the major leagues.

Until now, and even yet in some dwindling quarters, the National league thought it could weather the salary storm and break the AAC bankroll, thus having the field to itself once again. But it finds that it, too, is going broke in the process with the AAC still hanging.

Meanwhile, the paying princes have changed places with the playing paupers—and the guys down there on the gridiron hope the two leagues stay mad at each other forever.

But they better make hay before the sun of friendliness starts shining. Because there will be a common draft next winter when in self defense the rivals bury the hatchet—and, for a change, not in each other's back.

J. Hammett Hurls 4-0 Shut-Out

LIMA — The Mansfield Grays reigned as Ohio semi-pro baseball champions after defeating Lancaster Anchor-Hocking Glass, 4-0, in the tournament finals here last night.

By winning the tournament and state championship, the Grays gained the right to play in the National Baseball Congress tournament at Wichita, Kans later this month.

Hammett

Jack Hammett, 21-year-old star of the Grays, once again was given a large share of the credit for the victory. He tossed a five-hit shutout to throttle the supposedly tough Lancaster team which boasts of several ex-minor leaguers.

Hammett only Saturday had kept the Grays chances alive by bringing them from behind with a ninth inning, game-winning triple.

He was in control all the way last night as he struck out seven men and did not issue a single base on balls. He also hit a double and single in three official times at bat.

The Grays started their scoring off Lancaster's Jim Daubenmire in the third inning. Dean Hahn led off the inning with a triple and scored on the versatile Hammett's single.

Singles by Red Hamman and Kenny Funk and a double by Dubby Lockhart added another tally in the fourth. Two more runs were tallied in the fifth on Hammett's single, a walk to Shelly Swank and a triple by Kenny Funk

'Hot Rod' Driver Killed at Norwalk

NORWALK—(UP)— Robert Fissel, 23-year-old "hot rod" driver from Warrensville Heights, Ohio, was killed yesterday when he lost control of his roadster during a race at the half-mile dirt track near here.

Fissel had been running fifth in a ten-lap consolation race when he ripped through a steel fence at the far turn and plowed through a field before smashing against a barn. When track attendants reached him he was dead. R. J. Spuller, manager of the track, said that Fissel died of a fractured skull.

Baseball . . Heston Hurls Tavern Nine To 13-3 Win Over Ontario

Lefty Jack Heston kept ten hits well scattered while his mates went on a batting rampage to defeat the Ontario Merchants, 13-3, yesterday at Liberty park.

T and E scored six times in the fourth inning to sew up the game. Clifford Webb and Trent Snavely led the 14-hit attack with a triple and two singles apiece.

Jim Odenkirk led Ontario with three singles in four times at bat.

The Taverns will travel to Marion next Sunday for a game with the tough VFW team there.

'A' League To Resume Tomorrow

News-Journal A league teams will take up the job of unscrambling their jumbled standings when they resume play Tuesday after a two-week layoff.

Blue Goose and Flexible Conveyor will meet in the feature match of this week's play while other pairings send Smokehouse against Penn Auto, Orr Typewriter against PD's Bar, and Myers' Supply against Ideal Billiards.

Three teams—PD's Bar, Blue Goose Tavern and Flexible Conveyor—are tied for the league lead with six points. Ideal Billiards, Myers Supply and Penn Auto-Sporting Goods have four while Orr Typewriter has three and Smokehouse brings up the rear with two.

Gorman-Rupp Needs 2 Wins

The last week of the North Central Ohio Inter-City softball league season will be ushered in tonight with Mansfield Gorman-Rupp playing host to Mt. Vernon at 8:30 p. m.

Gorman-Rupp fell to only a game-and-a-half ahead of the second place Ashland Indians by losing to them Saturday night and must win two more games to sew up the pennant. Gorman-Rupp has won 14 and lost 3 while Ashland has a 13-5 record.

Ashland will come here for the final scheduled league game Friday. Gorman-Rupp also has a tie game with Willard which will be played off if it has any bearing on the pennant race.

Hogan, Oliver In Western Open Playoff Today

BUFFALO, N Y.—(AP)—National Open and PGA Champ Ben Hogan and Ed "Porky" Oliver from Seattle, met head-on today in an 18-hole medal match for the 1948 Western Open championship.

The playoff, made necessary when Oliver and Bantam Ben from Hershey, Pa., wound up the regulation 72 holes yesterday with 281's, was something of a return engagement. They met two years ago at Portland, Ore.

The stakes today were $2,500 for the winner and $1,800 for the loser. The field, headed by Bobby Locke of South Africa, split the rest of the $15,000 pie yesterday. Locke had a 283 for third place and was $1,400 richer.

Jimmy Demaret, of Ojai, Calif., and Tony Penna of Cincinnati were locked at 285 for $1,050 each. At 286 for $850 apiece were Herman Barron of White Plains, N. Y., and Vic Ghezzi of Englewood, N. J.

Nothing Can Stop Us Now —Tug Wilson

LONDON —(UP)— Feeling that they have at last hit their winning stride, the confident athletes of the U. S. Olympic team set a minimum of five gold medals and a maximum of nine as their target in today's competition at the Olympic games.

"Nothing is going to stop us from cleaning up now," said Kenneth L. (Tug) Wilson, vice president of the U. S. Olympic committee and his sentiments echoed the sky-high enthusiasm of the Stars-and-Stripes color bearers.

BIG EVENTS

The "big events" the Americans were after today were the 800-meter run, the pole vault, and the women's 100-meter free style swim. In addition they seemed likely winners in the bantamweight and middleweight class wrestling and had an outside chance to take two more titles in wrestling and two more in track.

800 A DUEL

The 800-meter run shaped up as a duel between Mal Whitfield, the Army Air Force sergeant who also attends Ohio State, and lean Marcel Hansenne, the French whippet. Two other Yanks were in the final, Herb Barten of Michigan and Bob Chambers of Southern California, and it was agreed that they might provide the big surprise in this event.

"The man who beats Whitfield will win," said U. S. Track Coach Dean Cromwell, "but I don't think anybody can."

Nine Enter Handicap At Randall Park

CLEVELAND—(INS)— The count of nominees for the $5,000 governor's handicap at suburban Randall Park stood at nine today with the addition of five more horses.

Entered yesterday were Lawless Miss, Tennessee Kid, Pickpocket, Melba Ann and Queen Melba.

Wins Golf Tournament

YOUNGSTOWN — (AP) — Max McConnel of Coshocton won the Ohio Junior of Chamber of Commerce golf tournament at the Mahoning Country club yesterday with a 36-hole total of 73-71—145.

Buck Ross Pitches Toledo No-Hitter

(By Associated Press)

Lee (Buck) Ross, who played 10 consecutive seasons in the American league before being cast off to the minors in 1946, twirled a no-hit, no-run game for Toledo yesterday.

The 33-year-old veteran, who was with the Philadelphia Athletics from 1936 to 1941 before beginning a four-year stretch with the Chicago White Sox, struck out six men and walked three in pitching the Mudhens to a 1-0 seven-inning nightcap victory over Minneapolis. He put the Millers down in order in four innings and only in the third did they push a man past first.

Rebounding 'A's' Are Back on Top

By JOE REICHLER
(AP Sports Writer)

An ordinary three-cent postage stamp can cover the first four teams in the closest four-club pennant race the American league has enjoyed in its 48 years of operation. Only eight percentage points separate the four teams.

Here is the picture as it appears today. The Philadelphia Athletics are back in first place, but are only eight points ahead of the fourth place Boston Red Sox. In between are the Cleveland Indians and New York Yankees

Based on games won and lost the Red Sox are in a virtual triple tie for second place with the Indians and Yankees. All are one game behind the A's. But once again that old percentage oddity crops up.

The Indians have won 55 and lost 38 for .591 to hold a two-point edge on the Yankees, who have won 56 and lost 39 for .589. The Red Sox have won 57 and lost 40 for .588

Here is how one day's activity scrambled up the junior league's first four teams:

Connie Mack's A's, in second place after Saturday's games, jumped into first by defeating the Tigers in Detroit 4-2 yesterday The Indians advanced from third to second by sweeping a doubleheader from the Red Sox, 12-2 and 6-1. The double defeat dropped Joe McCarthy's Red Sox from first all the way down to fourth. The Yankees moved up from fourth to third by vanquishing the Chicago White Sox twice, 8-2 and 7-5.

Phil Marchildon, the Canadian righthander, gained the honor of boosting the grab-bag Athletics to the top Sunday He limited the Tigers to five hits for his eighth victory, but had to have help in the ninth from Charlie Harris when he walked three men and hit another to force in a run.

Ferris Fain, draft-purchased first baseman, led the 13-hit A's attack against Dizzy Trout with a two-run homer and three singles. Fain drove in three runs and scored two himself. It was Trout's 11th loss against 10 victories.

Vic Raschi and southpaw Tommy Byrne pitched the Yankee victories Raschi allowed the White Sox only six hits in the first game, and batted in three runs to win his 13th game. Joe Dimaggio helped with his 24th home run. Byrne was ahead 7-1 in the ninth of the nightcap when he gave up a single and walked three men in succession before he was relieved by Frank Hiller. Hiller was nicked for two hits and three runs before he gave way to Joe Page, who snuffed out the rally.

The Browns and Washington Senators divided a doubleheader, St. Louis winning the opener, 8-5, and Washington the nightcap, 4-3. Tommy McBride's ninth inning single drove in the run that gave the Nats the second game triumph.

A four-run fifth inning against veteran Nelson Potter enabled the St Louis Cardinals to defeat the Braves in Boston, 9-6. The defeat cut the Braves' first place National league margin to five games over the New York Giants Four Boston errors aided the Redbirds.

Marty Marion paced the Cards' 15-hit attack with a double and three singles.

Rain washed out scheduled doubleheaders between Chicago and New York at the Polo grounds, Pittsburgh and Brooklyn at Ebbetts field, and Cincinnati and Philadelphia at Shibe park.

Tribe on Warpath Has Boston Tea Party

CLEVELAND—(AP)—The Cleveland Indians swooped twice with their tomahawks, and today you could cover the entire first division of the American league with one tepee, junior size.

The Tribe collected two scalps from the league-leading Boston Red Sox yesterday, 12 to 2 and 6 to 1, before 70,702 spectators. That gave Cleveland three straight and moved them from third to second place.

Cleveland paid a price It lost for the rest of the season the services of Hank Edwards, the 29-year-old Norwalk, O., outfielder who has been hitting .269. Hank dislocated his shoulder in the third inning of the first game, as he fell on the right field fence at the 365-yard mark As he went down, he held in the webbing of his glove a ball which Stan Spence had hit for what would have been a three-run homer Edwards went on the disabled list, which allows Cleveland to add a player.

Hank Edwards
Indians

The Tribe staged its hatchet act partly on its prowess with the war clubs and partly because it got full-length pitching. Bob Lemon went the distance to take the first game, and Sad Sam Zoldak turned the same trick in the nightcap. It was Lemon's 14th win against nine defeats, the victory he had been seeking since July 11. Zoldak won his sixth, against seven losses.

BLAST KINDER

In the first contest the Indians blasted Ellis Kinder and Dave Ferriss for 14 hits, which included Lary Doby's eighth homer of the year and Lemon's fifth. The Indians got out in front for five runs in the first inning, and went on to batter the Sox as they haven't battered them all year. Of the six hits Lemon allowed, two were home runs which came too late to do any good. Spence, robbed by Edwards in the third, lifted one over the same fence in the sixth, and Vernon Stephens rapped another over the left field fence in the eighth.

STEALS HOME

Manager Lou Boudreau got the second game off to a rousing start in the second inning. He stole home for the first time in his major league career. The Boston team raised rhubarb over the incident, claiming Zoldak was receiving a third strike for the third out as Boudreau came in, but Umpire Bill Summers said it was a ball.

The Clevelanders got eight hits off southpaw Mickey Harris and Tex Hughson, among them Joe Gordon's 20th homer and Allie Clark's fifth. Zoldak had the Bostons shut out until the ninth, when Ted Williams poled No. 17 over the right field fence.

Cleveland's home attendance for the season reached 1,443,823 yesterday, with only 78,155 to go on the record season of last year.

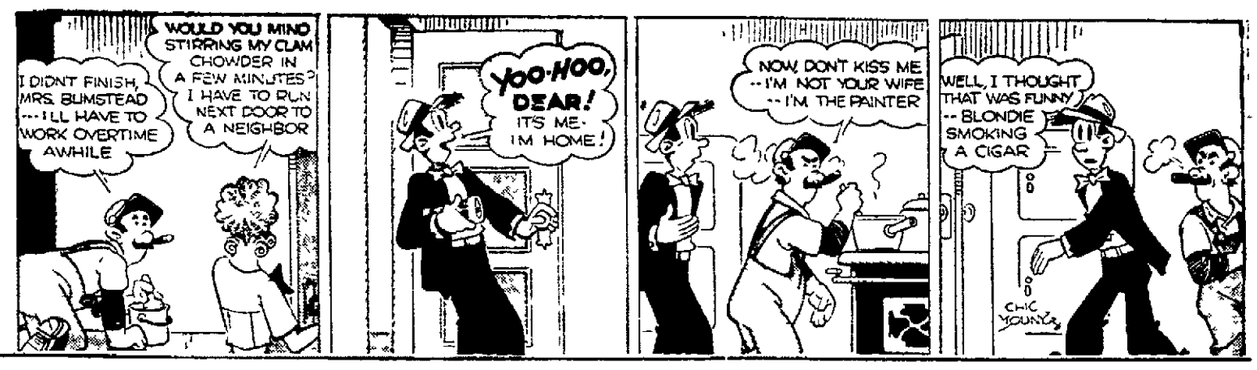
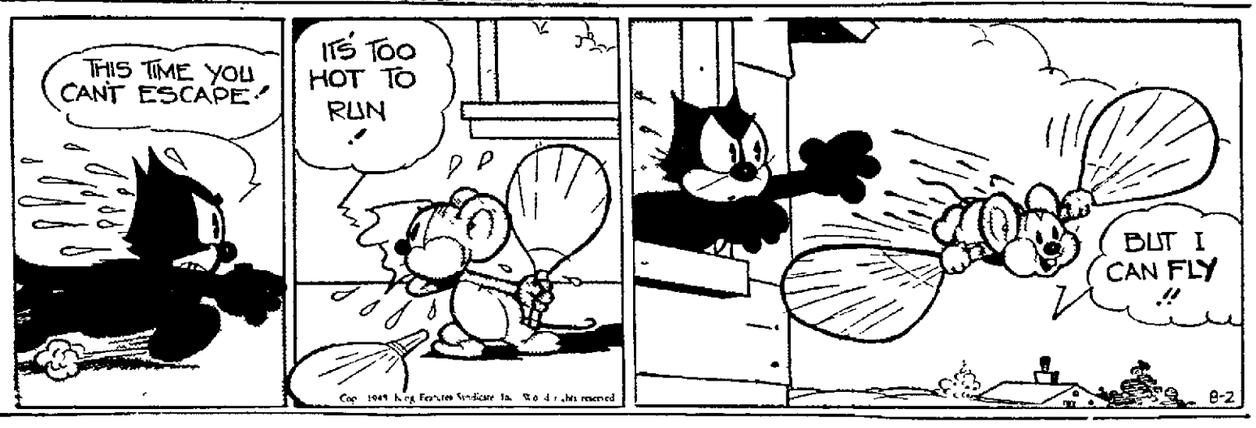
'OF ALL TH' SEASONS OF TH' YEAR, I LIKE IT BEST WITH YOU I FEAR, IN FACT YER NICER THAN TH' SPRING...YOU ARE TH' GRANDEST TIME I THING.". (HEY... WHATTA YA MEAN, THING?
IT'S WOT WE CALL POETICK LICE-SINTZ.
UH...WELL... MEBBE YER RIGHT, I WANTA PUT IT IN WITH TH' BRACELET I'M SENDIN' 'ER.
IT'LL SLAY 'ER. IT'S ONE A MY BEST... 'N'LL KNOCK 'ER PER A LOOP!
I'M GONNA AST'ER T'MARRY ME. I WANTA MAKE IT A DOUBLE WEDDIN' WITH JOE. THANKS PER TH' POEM.
JEEPERS ...I'M GONNA TRY AN' GIT ME A GAL T'MARRY WE'LL MAKE IT A TRIPLE....THINK A TH' PUBLICITY...I MIGHT GIT ON RADIO...WHICH IS MY DESIRE.

BLONDIE



I DIDN'T FINISH, MRS. BUMSTEAD ---I'LL HAVE TO WORK OVERTIME AWHILE
WOULD YOU MIND STIRRING MY CLAM CHOWDER IN A FEW MINUTES? I HAVE TO RUN NEXT DOOR TO A NEIGHBOR
YOO-HOO, DEAR! IT'S ME- I'M HOME!
NOW DON'T KISS ME --I'M NOT YOUR WIFE --I'M THE PAINTER
WELL, I THOUGHT THAT WAS FUNNY --BLONDIE SMOKING A CIGAR
CHIC YOUNG

FELIX



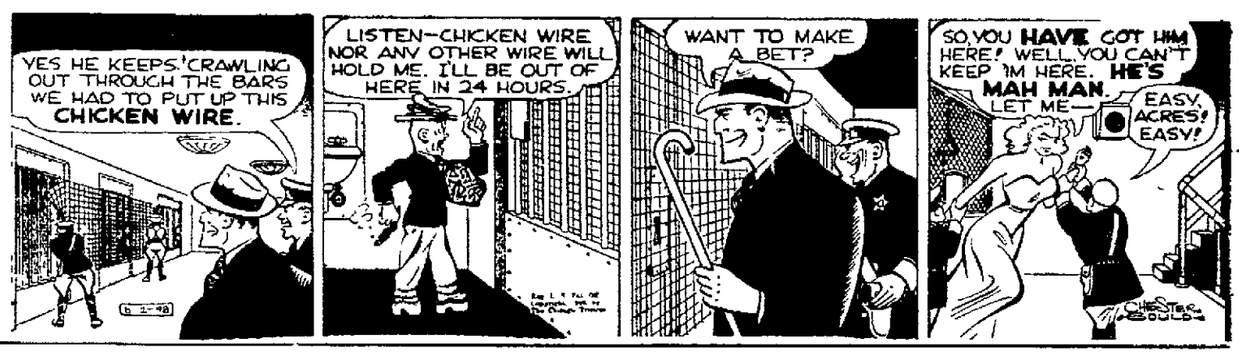
ORPHAN ANNIE

IDIOT! EVEN IN THE DARK YOU SHOULD HAVE KNOWN THE SHABBY ONE DID NOT HAVE WHISKERS!
NEITHER DID HE HAVE SO MUCH MONEY! LOOK, POLA- WE ARE RICH!
FOOL! BUT YOU HAVE DESTROYED AXEL! THE GOOSE THAT LAID THE GOLDEN EGGS!
YES! IT IS BAD! BUT HOW? I STILL DO NOT UNDERSTAND...
IN SOME WAY AXEL TOOK THE PLACE OF THE SHABBY ONE... IT WAS A TRICK... I AM AFRAID...
HAROLD GRAY
PFAUGH! IT WAS A TRICK ON AXEL! WE ONLY DID OUR JOB! WHO CAN BLAME US?

TERRY & PIRATES

CHAZZ AND MOTLEY HAVE HAD ENOUGH TIME TO DRIFT BACK THROUGH THE GUERRILLA-HELD SECTOR. TIME FOR US TO TRY OUR LUCK...LET'S GO!
GEORGE WUNDER
MEANWHILE
CAREFUL, MOTLEY! SOMETHING'S WRONG. THIS DEAD TREE IS THE RENDEZVOUS POINT, BUT THERE'S NO SIGN OF YOUR POP AND THE SHOT WE HEARD CAME FROM SOMEWHERE NEAR HERE.
FOR THE LUVVA PETE!

DICK TRACY

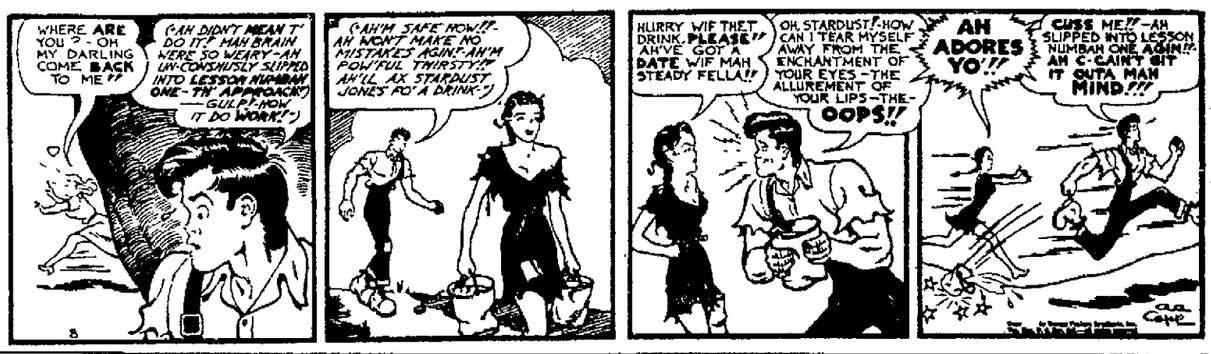


YES HE KEEPS CRAWLING OUT THROUGH THE BARS WE HAD TO PUT UP THIS CHICKEN WIRE.
LISTEN—CHICKEN WIRE NOR ANY OTHER WIRE WILL HOLD ME. I'LL BE OUT OF HERE IN 24 HOURS.
WANT TO MAKE A BET?
SO YOU HAVE GOT HIM HERE! WELL, YOU CAN'T KEEP 'IM HERE. HE'S MAH MAN. LET ME—
EASY, ACRES! EASY!
CHESTER GOULD

GASOLINE ALLEY

SKEEZIX, I KNOW SOMETHING HAS BEEN BOTHERING YOU LATELY. WHAT IS IT?
NOTHING AT ALL. YOU ARE IMAGINING THINGS.
A WIFE CAN TELL WHEN HER MAN IS TROUBLED. 'FESS UP!
THERE'S NOTHING TO CONFESS, NINA.
I'M CAREFREE AS A KITTEN. I'M SMILING — SEE!
BUT YOU'RE PUTTING THOSE DISHES INTO THE BROOM CLOSET!

LI'L ABNER



WHERE ARE YOU? - OH MY DARLING COME BACK TO ME"
CAH DIDN'T MEAN T' DO IT. MAH BRAIN WERE SO WEARY-AH UN-CONSHUSLY SLIPPED INTO LESSON NUMBAH ONE- TH' APPROACH! GULP! NOW IT DO WORK!
CAH'M SAFE NOW!! AH WON'T MAKE NO MISTAKES AGIN! AH'M POW'FUL THIRSTY!! AH'LL AX STARDUST JONES FO' A DRINK.
HURRY WIF THET DRINK, PLEASE" AH'VE GOT A DATE WIF MAH STEADY FELLA!!
OH, STARDUST! HOW CAN I TEAR MYSELF AWAY FROM THE ENCHANTMENT OF YOUR EYES - THE ALLUREMENT OF YOUR LIPS - THE- OOPS!!
AH ADORES YO'!!
CUSS ME!! - AH SLIPPED INTO LESSON NUMBAH ONE AGIN!! AH C-CAINT SHT IT OUTA MAH MIND!!!

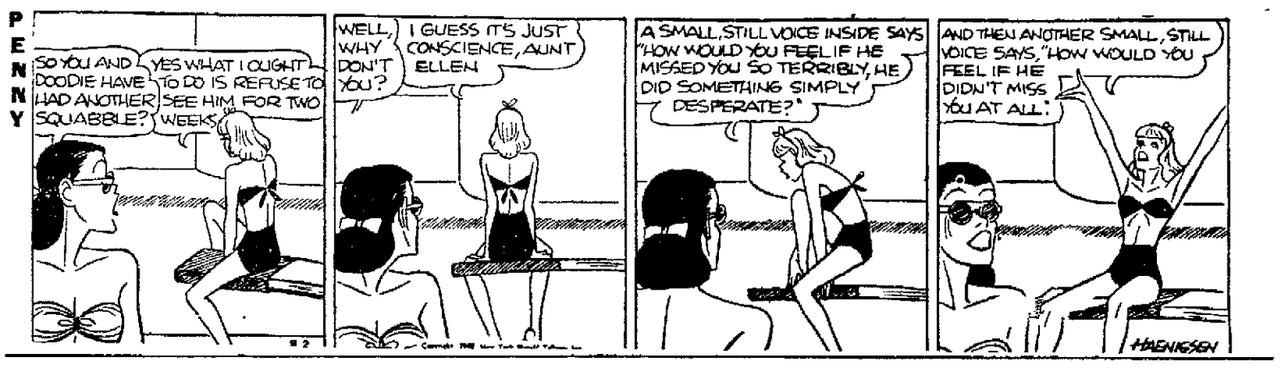
RIP KIRBY

OUR FRIEND KNOCKY'S STORY MAKES THINGS VERY BLACK FOR SIR CHARLES WINTERBROOK, IF KNOCKY TOLD THE TRUTH!
HE MIGHT HAVE LIED..OR AT LEAST EXAGGERATED... BETTY WAS STRONG.. A GOOD SWIMMER.. AND DELIBERATELY PUT ON HER BATHING SUIT!
ANYWAY, WE KNOW SIR CHARLES LIED! HE DID WAIT FOR HER... HE DID TAKE HER TO THE DOCK! I HAVE A PLAN ..YOU AND MISS DOR AN CAN HELP ME...
TELL HIM TO MEET YOU AT THE MARBLE ARCH ONE HOUR FROM NOW...
TELL HIM IT'S OF THE UTMOST IMPORTANCE...

BRICK BRADFORD

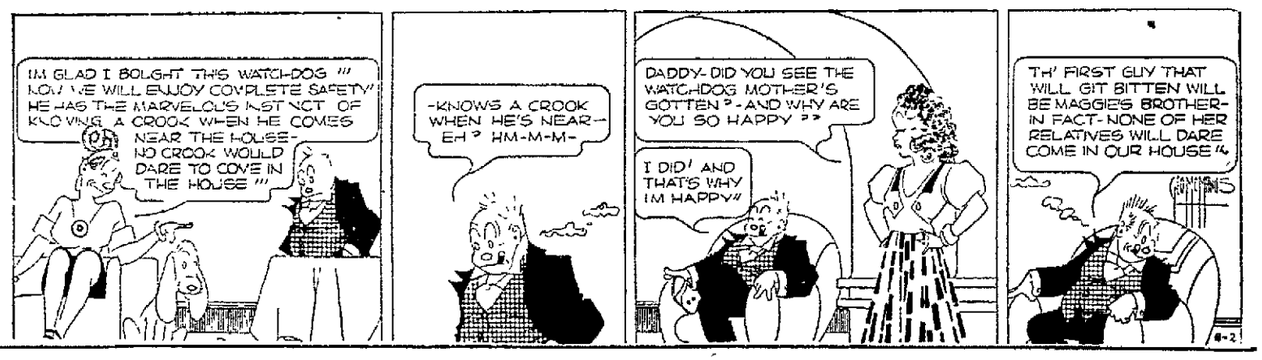
AH, BARBECUED BEEF! MY FAVORITE! AND AM I FAMISHED!?
WHAT DELICIOUS FLAVOR! THE WONDERFUL TANG OF THE OLD SOUTH!
I HAVEN'T TASTED ANYTHING SO GOOD SINCE I WAS LAST IN KENTUCKY.' WHICH OF YOU IS THE TALENTED CHEF?
WHY, HE'S - SAY! WHERE IS BOB? HE'S GONE!

PENNY



SO YOU AND DOODIE HAVE HAD ANOTHER SQUABBLE?
YES WHAT I OUGHT TO DO IS REFUSE TO SEE HIM FOR TWO WEEKS
WELL, WHY DON'T YOU?
I GUESS IT'S JUST CONSCIENCE, AUNT ELLEN
A SMALL, STILL VOICE INSIDE SAYS "HOW WOULD YOU FEEL IF HE MISSED YOU SO TERRIBLY, HE DID SOMETHING SIMPLY DESPERATE?"
AND THEN ANOTHER SMALL, STILL VOICE SAYS, "HOW WOULD YOU FEEL IF HE DIDN'T MISS YOU AT ALL."
HAENIGSEN

JIGGS



I'M GLAD I BOUGHT THIS WATCH-DOG !!! NOW WE WILL ENJOY COMPLETE SAFETY! HE HAS THE MARVELOUS INSTINCT OF KNOWING A CROOK WHEN HE COMES NEAR THE HOUSE- NO CROOK WOULD DARE TO COME IN THE HOUSE !!!
-KNOWS A CROOK WHEN HE'S NEAR- EH? HM-M-M-
DADDY- DID YOU SEE THE WATCHDOG MOTHER'S GOTTEN? - AND WHY ARE YOU SO HAPPY??
I DID! AND THAT'S WHY I'M HAPPY!!
TH' FIRST GUY THAT WILL GIT BITTEN WILL BE MAGGIE'S BROTHER-IN FACT- NONE OF HER RELATIVES WILL DARE COME IN OUR HOUSE!!

TILLIE

MAC, WHERE DID YOU EVER GET THAT GORGEOUS YACHT?
THAT'S MY SECRET, TILLIE. ALL I CAN SAY IS I GOT IT TO BRING YOU BACK TO CIVILIZATION.
YOU KNOW I CAN'T GO BACK. I CAME HERE TO WRITE A STORY ABOUT THE PRIMITIVE LIFE.
WHY DON'T YOU COME ABOARD AND WRITE A STORY ABOUT NON-PRIMITIVE LIFE?
8-2

ABBIE AND SLATS

I TOLD THAT YOUNG FOOL HE COULD MARRY YOU IF HE WISHED TO.
AND HE SIMPLY SAID HE DIDN'T WISH TO, AUNT JO-
BUT-???-YOU'RE THE RICHEST GIRL IN THE WORLD!!!
YES-I AM. BUT THERE ARE SOME YOUNG MEN WHO'D RATHER HAVE THE ONE GIRL THEY WANT-
THAN JUST ANY GIRL WITH MILLIONS- WHO WANTS THEM--
YOU'LL GET OVER THIS DISAPPOINTMENT, MY DEAR. YOU'LL MEET OTHER YOUNG MEN-YOU'LL FALL IN LOVE AGAIN. I'VE BEEN AN OLD IDIOT- BUT YOU'RE YOUNG. IT'S NOT TOO LATE TO MAKE UP FOR THE HARM I'VE DONE YOU.
MAYBE SUE HAS GOT OVER BEING MAD AT ME. I HOPE SO. I'M AWFULLY LONELY.
KNOCK

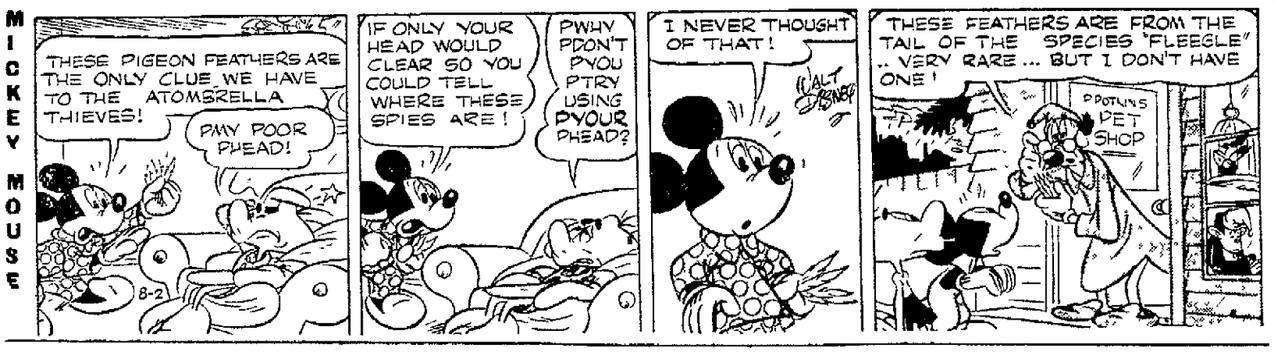
MICKEY MOUSE



THESE PIGEON FEATHERS ARE THE ONLY CLUE WE HAVE TO THE ATOMBRELLA THIEVES!
PMY POOR PHEAD!
IF ONLY YOUR HEAD WOULD CLEAR SO YOU COULD TELL WHERE THESE SPIES ARE!
PWHY PDON'T PYOU PTRY USING PYOUR PHEAD?
I NEVER THOUGHT OF THAT!

THE GUMPS

WE'VE GOT MR. GUMP ON THE ROPES--HE'S IN THERE MOANING LIKE THE WIND IN A WILLOW GROVE...
YES--WE'VE JUST ABOUT REMOVED HIM FROM POLITICS, TILDA...
NOW FOR THE CLINCHER... DR. CRANK?-- THIS IS MIN GUMP-- MY SCARE CAMPAIGN IS WORKING GREAT...CAN YOU DROP OVER AND TELL HIM HE NEEDS A NICE LONG REST?...SWELL!
GOSH, TILDA-- WITH PEACE AND QUIET IN PROSPECT, I HAVE A FEELING I MIGHT MISS THE EXCITEMENT OF MR. GUMP'S POLITICAL CAMPAIGN, AFTER ALL...
YOU SOUND LIKE A PERSON WITH FALSE CHOPPERS LONGING FOR A TOOTHACHE--

THE NEBBS

YOU HAVE A PATENT ON YOUR SMELLEVISION DEVICE?
OF COURSE... MY WIFE INSISTS THAT I PATENT ALL MY INVENTIONS
BUT HE NEVER DOES ANYTHING WITH THEM
WHY, SHOULD I? I INHERITED MINING INTERESTS AND THE INCOME KEEPS US GOING
AFTER MR BURDOCK PERFECTS SOMETHING HE LOSES INTEREST IN IT
BUT SMELLE-VISION
OH, HE'S WORKING ON SOMETHING ELSE NOW
YES.. A NOISELESS EXPLOSIVE! THINK OF THE POSSIBILITIES!

SUPERMAN

THE FIRST OF CLARK'S SEVERAL WORTHY BUT PRESUMABLY UNPROFITABLE PROJECTS HAS ACCIDENTALLY RESULTED IN DOUBLING THE FORTUNE HE IS SO ANXIOUSLY TRYING TO LOSE...
TO KEEP PEOPLE FROM SUSPECTING THAT I WANT TO GET RID OF MY MONEY, I INSISTED THAT ALL PROFITS FROM THOSE PROJECTS WOULD BE MINE-NEVER DREAMING THERE'D BE PROFITS AND THEN-
-THAT OLD PROSPECTOR I BACKED TURNS UP WITH A GOLD MINE. I'M RICHER THAN EVER.'
-AND NOW WE ANNOUNCE THE WINNER OF THE STROKE O' LUCK CONTEST SELECTED AT RANDOM FROM THE PHONE DIRECTORY!
THE WINNER OF TEN THOUSAND DOLLARS IS MR. CLARK KENT! CONGRATULATIONS, MR. KENT- AND WE HOPE YOU'RE LISTENING TO THE JOYFUL NEWS!

Charges Censorship Balked School Fight On Communism

Studebaker Advised To 'Tone Down'

Ex-Commissioner Blasts FSA Chief

WASHINGTON —(LP)—Former U.S. Education Commissioner John W. Studebaker charges that government censorship prevented him from exposing the "dangers of communism" in the schools.

He blamed the office of federal security Administrator Oscar Ewing, his government superior, for the censorship which he said was imposed on speeches and statements.

Studebaker said that one speech urging teachers to expose communism was killed in the administrator"s office. Another, he said, which he himself delivered at the University of California at Los Angeles, brought criticism from an unnamed Ewing aide who advised that it be "toned down" for subsequent publication.

Studebaker, who retired July 15, sent copies of his letter to members of the Senate and House appropriations committees.

When he complained about the censorship, he said, he was told that it was up to the state department and the FBI to explain communism to high school and college students.

"To accept (this) dictum," said Studebaker, ". . . would be tantamount to not having this vitally important educational task done at all, at least so far as the federal government is concerned."

RAPS POLITICS

The former commissioner also complained that politics were permitted to intrude in the management of the U.S. office of education. He characterized Ewing as "admittedly a partisan politician," and said:

"There is a deep-rooted tradition in this country . . . that the function of education in a democracy should be completely removed from partisanship."

Ewing is a close friend and political adviser of President Truman. At Searsport, Me., where he is vacationing, he said, "there has been no censorship that I know of."

In the speech which he was asked to "tone down," Studebaker said, he had declared that "no avowed or proven communist is fit to be entrusted with the job of inculcating the American way of life in any school."

Charges Reds Get Big 'Take'

their families. This they used to "blackmail" any members who gave signs of wanting to quit, he explained.

"The communist party has a slogan," he said. "It is 'you can never resign voluntarily from the party, you must always be expelled.'"

EXPLAINS DIVISIONS

Budenz said the communist set-up is divided into three groups. He listed these as:

1. The underground, or roots of the tree, which he said maintains direct contact with Moscow. He named Gerhart Eisler as an example of a person in this classification. Eisler has been described by a House committee as the No 1 communist in America.

2. The trunk, which he said includes open party officials, such as William Z. Foster, communist president.

3. The branches, including "People who profess to be non-communists but are communists."

Budenz, who left the party in 1945, told the committee that the party's status as fifth column for Russia in this country is proved by three factors:

1. "The Communist party has never found any defect in Russian policy" and its leaders "must do what the Kremlin orders at any specific moment."

2. The party for years received direct subsidies from Moscow in the form of free news. Budenz said this practice was halted by former Attorney General Francis Biddle.

3. From 80 to 90 per cent of the party's leaders have been trained in Moscow.

New Money Ups German Food Level

Gen. Clay Reports · Industry Buzzing

BULLETIN

BERLIN — (INS — Western military government officials today considered issuing special currency for Berlin to end a Russian-engineered financial crisis. The Russians have frozen accounts of firms and individuals of Berlin's western sectors in Soviet zone banks.

★

BERLIN—(LP)—Gen. Lucius D. Clay reported today that currency reform in western Germany, inaugurated June 20, has boosted ration levels and industry to new postwar highs.

Clay's July report to Washington, the most optimistic he has yet made, indicated that the introduction of a stabilized currency brought out huge food stores from farm hoards.

The new supplies of food, he indicated, had an electrifying effect on industry. Production and labor efficiency improved and absenteeism declined during the months.

Deliveries of meat, always the shortest item in western Germany, trebled in the first week after currency reform, Clay's report said. The normal consumer's daily ration in the Anglo-American zones rose to 1,990 calories in July compared to an average of 1,450 over the past year.

The August ration has been set at 1,755 calories daily, just short of the 1,800 calory target set by the British and Americans for this fall.

Clay said the potato ration was raised to the unprecedented level of 20,000 grams, or about 44 pounds, for the month.

OUTLOOK GOOD

Crop outlooks are good despite 26 straight days of rain in late June and early July, Clay said. With a short spell of dry weather, the harvests will be heavy in wheat and rye.

Coal production rose to 79 per cent of the 1938 base period. Other postwar highs were made in iron and steel, vehicles, building materials and pulp and paper products.

Socialist leaders reported meanwhile that only 17,000 of the 2,400,000 residents of western Berlin have registered to obtain food rations in the Soviet sector.

Socialist party members concluded two days of meetings by adopting a resolution refusing "to cooperate in any way with the Communist party or approve any communist proposals" so long as the Berlin blockade continues.

Five thousand Berlin women also met Sunday to defy the Russians and express support of the western powers. The meeting paid tribute to "western pilots who are supporting Berlin's fight for freedom and democracy."

Army sources reported that a new Soviet currency reform order had left about 700,000 Germans in the western sectors of Berlin without money for their food, rent and other necessities.

Big 4 Nations Hold Varied Views On Italian Colonies

LONDON —(AP)— The United States and Britain told other members of the Big Four "some of the inhabitants of Tripolitania have threatened "to resort to arms" if Italy resumes administration of their country.

Neither Russia nor France regarded the threat seriously, according to a report by a Big Four inquiry team which visited Italy's prewar African colonies. The report, made public here, disclosed the sharpest differences yet recorded between Russia and the west over the future of the strategically important territories.

The allies' peace treaty with Italy tossed the future of her colonies into the laps of the Big Four governments. Unless they reach agreements by Sept. 15, the U.N. general assembly will inherit the problem.

All four commissioners agreed none of Libya's three zones—Cyrenaica, Tripolitania and Fezzan—is ready for political or economic independence. But the American, British and French representatives disagreed strongly with a Russian contention that Libya should be united in every other way.

Reds Open Convention

NEW YORK—(LP)—The Communist party will open its 14th annual national convention in Madison Square Garden tonight and will adopt a platform and nominate candidates—if any—in closed sessions tomorrow and Wednesday.

The party meets this year with 12 of its ranking leaders under indictment by federal grand jury as being members of an organization advocating the overthrow of the United States government by force and violence. If convictions are obtained and then sustained by the Supreme court it might well mean the outlawing of the party in this country.

In its official call for the convention, the party indicated that it would not nominate a residential candidate this year, thus leaving its members free to support the Progressive party ticket headed by Henry A. Wallace.

That parallels the position taken by the communists in 1944, when they failed to put up a nominee in the presidential race and gave tacit backing to Franklin D. Roosevelt as "the commander-in-chief."

Woman Reveals Story of Spy Career

Ex-Agent 'Just Slipped' Into Communism

By DOROTHY WILLIAMS

WASHINGTON—(UP)—What makes a privileged, well-educated American girl become a communist agent?

Elizabeth Terrell Bentley says that her firsthand experience with Italian fascism made her slip easily into communism.

Then, she continues, she fell in love with an American citizen of Russian birth. Under his direction she gathered valuable wartime secrets which were piped "straight through" to the Soviet.

The communist party's trust in her increased. In 1941, before she realized it, she was betraying her country.

For three years the tall, blue-eyed girl with the darkening blond hair served Russia. The man she loved—the key communist agent—died, but she went on gleaning information on codes, on air strength, on scientific formulas for the Soviet.

She outlined her evolution from a school-girl "pink" to a hardened foreign agent in testimony before a Senate investigating committee.

She said it was not until the summer of 1944 that she began feeling disgusted and ashamed about her spy work. She feared for her own safety. And, she said, she wanted to go back to church—the church she hadn't attended in 15 years.

And then she began to see U S leaders nothing more than "little, cheap men." But, because she was obsessed with the idea that all Washington government offices were infested with communists, she chose an out-of-the-way place to tell her story.

She went to the New Haven office of the federal bureau of investigation. That was in late August, 1945. Now she is repeating her confession before Senate investigators.

USED VARIOUS NAMES

Elizabeth Terrell Bentley—she admits also using the names Mary, "Helen and "Joan"—was born about 40 years ago in New Milford Conn.

When she was seven she moved to New York, then to Pennsylvania.

In 1930, she was graduated from Swank Vassar college where she majored in English, became casually interested in socialism and was "a very feeble member of the league for industrial democracy."

Upon graduation she taught for two years at Foxcroft, a fashionable finishing school for girls at Middleboro, Va. Then she returned to college, this time to Columbia university to earn a master's degree in Italian.

She continued her study of Italian at the University of Florence, Italy and she watched the operations of Benito Mussolini's blackshirts at close range. Returning to this country in 1934, she became interested in communism because of her "revulsion" at fascism. A girl she once knew in the fourth grade contributed to her decision to become a communist party member.

At first she figured on the party "fringes." Then she joined "in picket lines, in deomnstrations, helped in strikes and reading literature."

Before long, her more important assignments made her "a member at large" of the party and caused her "to go underground" to conceal her communist. As an "underground" operative she was answerable to one communist—Jacob Golos, Russian-born head of a Soviet tourist agency in New York.

That marked the beginning of her serious spy work against her native land.

She told her story in a cultured, controlled voice. She even laughed a little when she said she lost her latest job because of her recent publicity. But her voice was scarcely audible when committee counsel William Rogers asked if she loved Golos.

"Yes," she replied. "I did."

Burglars Loot Walker Dairy In Shelby of Nearly $300

City Police Intensify Crime Hunt

Cash Missing From Safe

SHELBY—The theft of nearly $300 from the Walker Dairy company, 88 West Main street, was under investigation today by city police.

Company officials reported the money was taken from a safe in the basement between the hours of 12:40 and 5 p. m.

Police, fearing a minor crime wave has gripped the city, have redoubled their efforts to apprehend the thieves.

police reported that the thieves apparently gained entrance through a coal window on the south side of the building.

The company listed approximately $120 in cash and $171.60 in checks missing.

MONEY IN SAFE

An employe of the firm said she placed the money in the safe at 12:40 p. m. On her return at 5 p. m., she said, the money bag was missing and money was also missing from an envelope.

Officer Richard Landis said that apparently the thieves gained entrance from the coal bin.

Landis said there were no indications that the safe was forced open. Police theorized that it may have been opened from a set position.

WINS ASHLAND HORSE SHOW—Pretty twelve-year-old Carol Lou Schwan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Schwan, 747 Arlington avenue, Mansfield, captured first prize in the English three-gaited class at the Ashland Horse Show with Mountain High Time.

Crossing Action Seen

Mansfield's service-safety director Earl T. Garrison said today he had been given assurance by the Erie railroad that the rough Bowman street crossing would be investigated.

Garrison showed a letter from H. H. Clark, supervisor of the Kent division of the railroad, in reply to Garrison's letter on the condition of the crossing.

Clark stated that the "matter is being handled for investigation and attention."

The crossing, heavily used by Mansfielders, has needed repairs since the end of the war, Garrison said.

Meanwhile, Garrison said he was considering a communication to the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio concerning the hazardous conditions which still exist at the East Fourth street crossing of the Pennsylvania railroad.

Six near-accidents have occurred at the crossing because the safety gates were not lowered in time to keep motorists from entering the tracks while a train was approaching.

Pistol Reported Taken From Office

Police continued an investigation today of a reported theft of a pistol from the office of the I. A. Barnett company 57 West Longview avenue, early Sunday.

The theft was reported by Harry D. Lynch, Mansfield, R. D. 3, night watchman at the plant, who said the gun was missing after he allowed a couple to call a taxi from the office.

Lynch told officers the couple came to the office about 4:30 a. m. Sunday and asked to call a taxi. He said he let the man in the office and that a taxi appeared in about five minutes.

Children's Theater to Offer 'Tinder Box' In South Park

Winding up their 11th successful season, members of Mansfield's Children's Theater will present their closing performance, "The Tinder Box," Tuesday and Wednesday nights at South park pavilion.

Use of a curtain raiser, employed to the audience's delight last month, will precede the production. The curtain raiser will be "Little Black Sambo," under the direction of Miss Mary Jo Hunter.

Directed by the theater founder and director, Harold McCuen, participants in "The Tinder Box" will be Roger Thaler and Ronald Smith as alternates in the role of Don Valoroso; Peggy Bayer and Ann Lusignan as the Landlady; Tommy Cook as the Watchman; Hugh Maxwell as the King.

Christine Fernyak and Bonnie Rae Battin as the Queen; Susie Wolfe and Pleasance Kaufman as Princess Dulcibelle; Myrna Stern and Judy Goler as the Witch; and Molly Maxwell and Paula Ackerman as alternates in the role of Dog-with-eyes-like-saucers.

Chip Ballentine and John Matthes will take the role of soldiers and Adelle Morly, Carol Ramsey and Roberta Weil will serve as ladies in waiting.

H. R. McBride and Mrs. Bruce McGinty are in charge of scenery with costumes under the direction of Mrs. Norman Hakes and Mrs. Paul Lantz. Production assistant for "The Tinder Box" is Mrs. Worth Kaufman.

Motorist Hurt In Traffic Crash

Mrs. Doris Balyeat of East Mansfield suffered shock and bruises about 3 p. m. Sunday in a two-car collision at Franklin avenue and East Second street.

Police said Mrs. Balyeat was riding in a car driven by Robert C. Balyeat, 26, of East Mansfield who told officers his car was struck by a car which failed to stop at a stop sign.

Driver of the other car, Patsy Stirp, 51, of 406 Orange street, was cited to appear in traffic court Wednesday at 1:30 p. m., on a charge of failing to yield the right-of-way.

Pledge New Fair Events For Ashland

Name Dotson New Secretary

ASHLAND — Ashland county's 102nd annual fair, scheduled for Sept. 21-25, is now in preparation under the new fair secretary, Harry G. Dotson, Dotson, secretary of the Ashland County Automobile club, has succeeded L. B. Hetsler as fair secretary.

Among new features announced by Dotson will be an amateur night at which talent from Ashland county will participate. If plans work out, the amateur show will be broadcast over the Ashland's FM station, WATG, with Speros Karas band as a feature. Any resident of Ashland may enter the contest with any act suitable for such presentation, Dotson announced today.

The fair will open Tuesday Sept. 21 and close the following Saturday night.

Features already scheduled include a horse show Wednesday night, stock parade Thursday night, team hitches, Friday night and Darevedil Jimmy Lunch Saturday afternoon and evening. Full race programs will get under way Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons with blankets to be awarded the winners.

MERCHANTS' DISPLAY

Another new feature is the merchants' tent which will include a display merchandise from 17 Ashland merchantcs. Displays will include television, paint mixing, model planes, glass fabrication, pressure cooking and fast ironing plus regular merchandise.

The district Guernsey show at the fair will include a special Guernsey show by Breeders of the Ashland-Med-Way Guernsey association. Arrangements for this show are being handled by Gail Heifner and George McConnell.

Dotson predicts that the junior fair department will be the largest ever held here according to present indications.

Entertainment features will include "Red" Carter, whose clown antics will be seen during the entire period of the fair. He is to appear between races and at various places about the grounds.

Some Dinner Tickets Still Available

The Mansfield Optimist club announced today that a limited number of tickets are still available for the Optimist club baseball banquet at Richland Recreation Center Wednesday evening.

All tickets must be purchased before Tuesday afternoon and no tickets will be available after that time as a final report must be made before arrangements are completed, club members said.

The baseball banquet will have guests and speakers from the Cleveland Indians baseball club, including president Bill Veeck, Hank Greenberg and possibly a player or two.

Tickets may be purchased until Tuesday afternoon at West's Dry Cleaners, Doc Hamman's, Met's Auto Supply, Mayer Drug store, Richland Recreation and McMahon supply in Mansfield and Stahl Hardware in Ashland.

Man Suffers Head Injury

Condition of Ray Turner, 94 East Luther place, who was found unconscious and bleeding from a right temple wound in the Central park rest room early Sunday, was reported as "fair" today at General hospital.

Police said they found Turner in a pool of blood on the floor of the rest room shortly after 2 a. m. Sunday. They said he had apparently fallen and struck his head on a loose steel plate on the floor.

Turner was removed to General hospital and given plasma after police administered first aid to stop the bleeding.

Merger of Groups Set For Aug. 10

A joint meeting of the League of Ohio Municipalities and the Ohio Association of Cities will be held in Mansfield, Aug. 10, for the formal organization of the two groups into the Association of Ohio Municipalities.

Mayor Roy W. Vaughn, an official of the League of Ohio Municipalities, said the organizations will meet at 10 a. m. at the city building. Louis Bromfield has been named as the chief speaker for the noon luncheon at the Westinghouse cafeteria.

Three Fined For Traffic Violations

James F. Moore, 71 Orchard street, was fined $75 and costs in Municipal court today when he pleaded guilty to being in physical control of a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol.

Roscoe Butts, 223 North Franklin avenue, was fined $10 and costs when he pleaded guilty to failure to yield the right-of-way.

Drawing $5 fines and costs were Ronald Herschler of Ashland, guilty to crossing a yellow line, and James Scott, 228 North Franklin avenue, guilty to disorderly conduct.

Robert McKell of Chillicothe, forfeited $15 bond when he failed to appear for hearing on a charge of crossing a yellow line.

Continued cases included the assault and battery charges against Elmer Earick, 193 Carpenter road, and against Tony Pignatelli, 224 West Third street, set for Aug. 6, and hearing on the driving while intoxicated charge against Clarence Sigler, 525 McPherson street. Sigler, who entered a plea of innocent, will appear in court Aug. 10.

Cyclists to Take 'Mystery Trip'

Members of the Mansfield YMCA Century Cycle club will meet Tuesday on the Carpenter school grounds at 9 a. m. for a "mystery trip."

The club members have been looking forward to the trip which has been shrouded in secrecy. They have been requested to bring their lunch, swimming suits, and towels and leave by bicycle to an unknown destination where their day's activities will be revealed for the first time.

Fredericktown Dad of Six Drowns as Boat Capsizes

FREDERICKTOWN — Robert Neely, 38-year-old father of six children, drowned yesterday in the Huron river when his boat capsized.

A companion, John Weibling, 41, was rescued.

Neely leaves his wife, Icie, six children, his parents, three brothers and one sister.

Funeral services will be held at 8 o'clock tonight at the Bollinger funeral home. Rev. Stanley Tippett will officiate.

Tomorrow the body will be sent to Mannington, West Virginia, the home of his parents, for burial.

Stocks Make Quiet Technical Recovery, As Oils Lead Way

NEW YORK — (U.P.) — Stocks made a quiet technical recovery today under the leadership of industrial issues.

Gains in the industrial section ranged to more than a point with a few issues 2 points or more higher.

Oil issues headed the recovery list after their sharp declines last week. Shell union sold at 40¼ up 1; Skelly, 135⅞ up 1⅛, and Standard Oil (N.J.) 79¼ up ½.

Steels, motors, communications, farm issues, and electrical equipments firmed. Railroad issues ruled steady to firm and utilities were steady.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

PAGE FOUR — MANSFIELD, OHIO, MONDAY, AUGUST 2, 1948

Bomb-Planter Still at Large

FOUR WEEKS AGO this morning a bomb explosion in downtown Mansfield caused a considerable furor in the immediate vicinity of the blast, shook buildings, shattered windows and caused injuries to two police officers and two firemen whose quick response to a call placed them at the scene before the burning fuse had reached the explosive.

For a week there was appearance of police activity in securing and running down clues that might disclose identity of the perpetrator of this outrage, but so little concern was shown by county commissioners that no reward was offered, and the occurrence was apparently regarded as a minor incident, despite the fact that it was only by good fortune that no fatalities resulted.

Then came the turn of public attention to the atrocious crimes committed by two Ohio State Reformatory parolees, involving six murders, with Reformatory Farm Superintendent John E. Niebel, his wife and daughter, among the victims.

That brought an immediate offer of $5,000 reward from the Richland county commissioners, as was proper, yet the potentialities of permitting a person of bomb-planting tendencies to roam at large in the community would also seem to justify offer of a suitable reward for information leading to the capture and conviction of the miscreant.

On Thursday, July 22, the day following the tragic fate of three members of the Niebel family, The News-Journal announced offer of a reward of $250 for information to this newspaper leading to the arrest and conviction of the murderers, and another $250 reward "for information leading to arrest and conviction of the person or persons who placed a bomb at the back door of the Crescent cafe on South Park street, and in the explosion of which two Mansfield policemen and two firemen narrowly escaped being killed."

The first objective has been reached. One of the murderers is dead, the other is being securely guarded in Richland county jail, awaiting trial, conviction and eventual execution.

But the perpetrator of the bombing outrage is still at large—possibly putting together the explosives for another such "warning"—or whatever his still undisclosed purpose may have been. And the next time—if there is a next time—may not be so fortunate in not causing loss of lives.

The News-Journal's offer of $250 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the bomb-planter stands, and, as stated in the original announcement, this newspaper will also do its utmost to protect the purveyors of any such information from reprisal at the hands of anyone who might be involved.

Despite dereliction of municipal officials in non-enforcement of laws which they choose to ignore, it is the firm belief of The News-Journal that an overwhelming majority of Mansfield residents favor keeping this community as free as possible from various illegal rackets which tend to attract lawless characters to this city, which has long prided itself on being "a good city in which to live, work, and rear children."

Not Enough Milk, So Price Goes Up

SCARCITY is put forward as the reason for the most recent increase in milk prices, and the case is so well presented by processors of milk in this area that there seems no justification for quibbling on this point.

The main factor for consideration is this further evidence of the steady upward trend of prices of essential foods and other necessities, and the apparent inability of Congress or the administration to do anything about it.

Increase of two cents a quart in the retail price of milk may not seem vitally important, yet it is bound to work a considerable hardship on families in which there are several children whose health demands a liberal supply of milk in their diet.

Suggestion that people use less milk, in order to balance supply and demand, is undoubtedly well intended, and can be applied to a certain extent by adults, but it is a different matter insofar as growing children are concerned, and there would seem to be an advantage in sacrificing some other dairy products in order to supplement the supply of milk.

For instance, a tremendous volume of milk goes into production of ice cream, which, while an enjoyable luxury, cannot be regarded as so essential as milk. Then again, there is nutritious oleomargarine as a quite satisfactory substitute for scarce and extremely high priced butter.

If home and commercial use of all dairy products is kept to a minimum of absolute requirements during this period of acute shortage it may be that a more even balance between supply and demand can be attained.

And, with this increase in the price of milk, it would appear even more urgent to restore availability of pint bottles for consumers who can make the smaller amount suffice.

What Is Proper Retirement Age?

VETERAN U. S. Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas, who has served for 30 years, is not running for another term. Until lately he was all set to go, feeling that not only was he perfectly fit at 82, which is a venturesome opinion, but that he would continue to be fit for the next six years, which is rash indeed. He will now make way for a younger man, who may be more receptive to the world's astonishing new developments.

Perhaps Capper had ambitions for beating the record of Justin S. Morrill of Vermont, whose 31 years as senator carried him into his 88th year.

One oratorical expression that was common in earlier times is being carefully avoided by candidates nowadays. Many will recall when the speaker reached the point of saying: "And now, ladies and gentlemen, I would like to tax your memory."

The Nation Today

Boom or Bust—Which?

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — Boom or bust? You'll find out. But you'll have to stick around for the answer. How long? Maybe months. Maybe years.

There seems to be a little divided opinion on the subject.

Here, after a week of the special session of Congress, you're no nearer an answer than you were before President Truman called the session.

Mr. Truman, full of gloom and worry about the future, warns the Republicans who control Congress they'd better do something about inflation.

But the Republicans shrug him off and say he's playing politics in this election year.

So how can you—since you're no expert in economics but just an average American hoping everything will come out all right—know the answer to this one:

We're in a boom time now with the greatest number of people ever employed in American history but—with living costs higher than they've ever been in American history. So—

Will the boom end, sooner or later, in a sickening, soul-shattering bust? Or will this country straighten out, with inflation gradually subsiding and leveling off on a long, smooth tide of prosperity?

Before the special session started last Monday, it was pretty clear that the Republicans were in no mood to pay attention to Mr. Truman or his warnings.

They listened to him, looked at his recommendations, and said they don't think much of them.

With one week of the special session already gone, there's a good chance it will fold up altogether by next Saturday and go home.

At least that's what Senator Taft of Ohio, Republican leader in the Senate, says.

* * *

Each Condemns Other.

ANGERED by the Republicans' week-long coolness to his warnings of trouble ahead unless something is done quickly about inflation, Mr. Truman accused Congress of "blind disregard of the dangers that beset our path."

To that Senator Taft replied that Mr. Truman is "making political speeches" and actually "does not want to stop inflation."

Mr. Truman said a "business collapse," a "depression," may result if his recommendations aren't followed.

He said that last Friday in a report—based on the findings of his economic advisors—which he sent to Congress.

But Senator Taft came right back by saying the report makes it "very difficult to see any emergency that would require the calling of a special session."

The Senator did say he hopes Congress will do something about the price question.

But at this point it's hard to see how Congress can do much about it because:

1. The Senate has been tied in knots by a filibuster of the southern Democrats against an anti-poll tax bill. True, Senator Taft says he hopes this filibuster will be over by Wednesday.

2. But, if Congress adjourns by next Saturday, that leaves it only Thursday, Friday and Saturday to act on prices.

On top of all this a couple of Democrats—Reps. Monroney of Oklahoma and Boggs of Louisiana—made, in effect, this suggestion to the Republicans:

"If you don't like Mr. Truman's proposals, then why don't you Republicans set up some program of your own to stop inflation?"

This story could go on and on. It doesn't need to. At this point this much seems clear: You're caught in a political nutcracker.

Time alone will give you the answer on whether Mr. Truman or the Republicans are right.

Washington Calling

An Advantage To Some

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON—The temper of the congressmen in special session is described as "angry," "sullen," "surly." There are unquestionably members of the 80th Congress who have come back here in a pretty bitter frame of mind.

If you were Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio and you had to give up the peace and coolness of Murray Bay in Canada for the tussle of a session in Washington's summer heat, you wouldn't feel too happy about it. Or if you were Speaker Joseph W. Martin, jr., and you had to leave the pleasures of Cape Cod for a political hot spot, you would certainly not do any cheering.

For most members, however, and particularly those in the House, the recall comes as something of a relief.

Back in the home district there is little peace for the average congressman. He is at the mercy of the people about whom he talks so long and eloquently in the halls of Congress.

They want to tell him, for a change, what they think. Or they have a favor to ask. On top of this come endless requests to speak at this picnic and that rally; invitations which the candidate cannot refuse.

He is also the prey of a legion of solicitors for worthy causes who expect him to contribute generously out of a salary that is regarded back home as inexhaustible.

So in the present interlude, before the election begins, a great many members are pleased at finding a refuge in the capital. The sound effects of anger and denunciation are largely for political purposes.

* * *

Interrupts Campaign.

FOR SOME members, however, the special session imposes a serious penalty. It gives an opponent a perfect opportunity to make hay back home while the incumbent is sweating it out in Washington.

Rep Estes Kefauver of Tennessee is an example of one on whom the session imposes a severe handicap. In fact, he may be the outstanding example, for he is engaged in a tough fight to win the seat in the Senate now held by Senator Tom Stewart at the primary to be held in Tennessee next Thursday.

Kefauver is a liberal. He has consistently fought for the New Deal measures that have made such changes in his region. In many ways he typifies the changing South.

That is one reason why the bitter enemies of change are trying so hard to defeat him. Their big bass drum is Boss Ed Crump of Memphis. Crump has spent thousands of dollars in a series of full-page newspaper advertisements throughout the state to smear Kefauver as a "Red."

Crump is a resourceful and cunning politician who has long ruled Memphis as his own private principality.

Unfortunately for Boss Crump, the candidate of his choice, Judge John A. Mitchell of Cookeville, is not doing too well in a three-cornered race. Consequently, the boss may have to switch his support to Senator Stewart, the third contestant. Stewart has had a colorless career, for the most part following the lead of Tennessee's feuding patronage hunter, Senator Kenneth McKellar.

Until the session called him back, Kefauver was waging a marathon campaign that had brought him substantial gains, according to reports from the state. He has spoken in virtually all of Tennessee's 95 counties, often getting so far back into the hills that his office here could not reach him on the telephone.

His campaign is in the rugged frontier tradition. At every crossroads he strides up and down the street, shaking hands with young and old and asking them to vote for him on his record.

The Democratic victor in the primary is certain to face a tough fight in the fall, whether it is Kefauver or one of the Crump pets. The surge of Republican confidence has raised high hopes that the border states and even the solid South can be cracked.

As Cerf Tells It

Robert Boardman, a New York journalist, reports a conversation with a gentleman claimed to be a fox trapper for the State Conservation Department. "Are you paid by the fox?" asked Mr. Boardman. "No, by the state," he replied.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Russia Hunting Uranium For A-Bombs

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Most encouraging sign on the atomic-energy horizon is what the Russians are now doing in Saxony.

Low-grade uranium deposits are found in this southern German state, and the Russians have been working feverishly to mine them. They have been using a great deal of labor, and going to great lengths to scrape up this uranium, which is so low grade that in Canada it would be ignored.

The fact that the Russians are taking all this trouble over such poor quality uranium in Germany obviously means only one thing: They don't have any worth-while uranium of their own in Russia.

* * *

Young "Cordell Hull."

TENNESSEE'S easy-talking, hard-fighting congressman, Estes Kefauver, wore a coonskin cap in stumping the state against Boss Ed Crump's political machine.

"My coonskin may have three rings around its tail," he told Tennesseeans, "but it doesn't have a ring through its nose."

Kefauver, who looks and acts like Cordell Hull in his younger days, is staking his forthright record in Congress against Boss Crump's machine in a three-cornered showdown fight over Tom Stewart's Senate seat.

Both Crump and Stewart, obviously worried, have gone to the extreme length of trying to turn racial prejudice against Kefauver by calling him a foreigner. Crump has been buying full-page newspaper ads, smearing Kefauver as a foreigner and therefore un-American. At the same time J. J. Walker of McMinnville, Tenn., prominent lumberman, has been acting as Stewart's mouthpiece in spreading the same charge.

Note: Actually, Kefauver was born in Monroe county, Tenn., near Madisonville.

* * *

Inside GOP Caucus.

GAUGING their own long-windedness, Republican senators scheduled the Senate to start one hour late the other day. They wanted to decide what they should do about Harry Truman's challenge of a special session. They were right in their estimate—their verbal free-for-all lasted all morning.

Only the sound of muffled voices leaked through the ponderous doors, but here is a play-by-play account of what happened inside the GOP meeting.

Speaking for the high command, Senator Bob Taft made it clear that the decision to keep Congress in special session long enough to pass on "emergency measures" had been dictated by their new Republican leader, Tom Dewey. Taft said he had been in constant touch with Dewey, both by telephone and through his Washington-based campaign manager, Herb Brownell.

Taft quoted Dewey as saying it would be a "grave mistake" to adjourn immediately. Then Taft added his own opinion that Congress should remain in session about two more weeks.

This brought sharp disagreement from Wyoming's Ed Robertson, Indiana's Bill Jenner and Nevada's George Malone. Robertson called for immediate adjournment, suggested they reconvene after November. (He faces the fight of his life from Wyoming's Governor Hunt.) Taft replied that the ideal of a special Republican session of Congress, called by the Republicans, already had strong support from the GOP leadership.

Malone had nothing to say about a post-election session, but he begged to go home now. Once an amateur pugilist, he gave the senators the benefit of his experience in the ring.

"Truman is in the position now of a fighter who is knocked flat on his back in the tenth round," warned the Nevadan. "He has got nothing to lose if he comes up swinging wildly. But it is a mistake for us to stick our chin out."

* * *

"Rubber Stamp" Tactics.

MASSACHUSETTS' Henry Cabot Lodge criticized Taft's policy committee for releasing a statement to the press before consulting with the rest of the senators. Firecracker-tongued Charles Tobey of New Hampshire agreed. He said it made the caucus look like a rubber stamp.

Usually brusque Gene Millikin of Colorado tried to smooth over the discord, suggested that the release was given as the view of the committee—not of the full caucus.

Acting majority leader Ken Wherry chimed in with the explanation that several newsmen had been on their necks and it was impossible to dodge them.

Lodge came back with the suggestion that the special session be restricted to action on inflation, housing, civil rights, the international wheat agreement and the UN loan. Taft reminded him that it was up to the committees to decide what Congress should consider.

New York's Irving Ives urged that all the President's recommendations be processed through the committees before the Republicans made a decision on what should be done.

President of the Senate Arthur Vandenberg limited his say to a couple minutes, but stressed the importance of going through the committee procedure.

Dissension Troubles GOP

By THOMAS L. STOKES

ONE THING that is being exposed by the special session of Congress, much to the chagrin of Republicans, is the split within their own ranks between what might be termed moderate progressives and strict conservatives.

Though not as deep and serious as the widely advertised rift in the Democratic party, it nevertheless exists.

The consciousness of it accounts partly for the reluctance of party leaders toward the special session. They did not want this division bared to public gaze at the outset of the campaign.

It is particularly embarrassing because it involves their candidates for president and vice-president, Governor Dewey and Governor Warren, who are in the moderate progressive tradition of the East and Far West as contrasted within the staunch conservatism, almost stand-pattism, of some leaders of the party in Congress, especially the clique that rules the House with an iron hand which is dominated by skillful and veteran legislators from the midwest.

It was from party leaders in that area that chief opposition came to Governor Dewey's nomination. When they failed to prevent his selection they tried to get one of their own in second place. They failed. This has not been forgotten and is a factor recognized privately, though not discussed openly.

Republicans have sought to cover up their differences by shouting "politics" at President Truman for calling the special session and by referring constantly to the division in his own party which they expect to capitalize during the special session to divert attention from their own internal difficulties.

Their dilemma has been magnified by the way President Truman spelled out the issues in his message to Congress. It was clearly shown in the indecision and confusion among party leaders when the President announced the special session at the Democratic convention, by Governor Dewey's own complete silence, and by the stone-faced, sitting-on-hands reception Republicans gave the President during reading of his message.

Blocked by Opponents.

THE SPLIT within the Republican party, as regards domestic policy, is over what are known generally as social welfare measures.

The diferences of viewpoint were fairly well concealed during the first session of the 80th Congress and a large part of the second when emphasis and attention were on matters on which there was general agreement.

When the Republican social welfare program was finally pushed forward in the latter part of the second session in the Senate, which was according to plan to enact them before the campaign, the conservative House leadership stopped them cold and so Congress adjourned without final action on them.

This dereliction, it was hoped, would be forgotten. But President Truman seized upon it on his western tour. Then the Republicans gave him the opportunity no one would miss when at its national convention the party went on record in its platform for measures that they had abandoned only a few days before.

The best example, and the President put it second on his list for the special session, is the Taft-Ellender-Wagner housing bill which has passed the Senate, has been favorably reported by the House banking committee, but was locked up in the House rules committee by mandate of the Republican House leadership.

This failure to act on such a pressing public issue was the more glaring because of its sponsoring by an important party leader and a recognized conservative, Senator Taft of Ohio.

The education bill is another example. It has passed the Senate and is slumbering in a House committee.

As for inflation, which the President properly put in number one position, if Congress does nothing about that then the Republican party, despite its obviously fine chance to win the election, might find itself in a bad position strategically in the campaign.

One Man's Opinion

—By WALTER KIERNAN

GOV. DEWEY is giving some thought to the suggestion that he shave his mustache to carry the South. . . . This appears to be a contest that can be won by a whisker.

* * *

It is true that Dewey's mustache carried him to Albany, N. Y., but it may not have commutation value to Albany, Ga.

* * *

On the other hand when the question is asked "What does Dewey have that Truman doesn't have?" His supporters have an obviously hairy answer.

* * *

But if the South will support a clean-shaven man, who spread the rumor that Harry has an upswept hairdo on his upper lip?

There is one report that they have been circulating pictures of George "Beard" Shaw labeled "don't send this beaver to the White House."

Timely Editorial

Controls On Bikes.

At first glance the police order clamping down on double riding on motorcycles and motor bikes not equipped with two seats, and calling for drivers' licenses for the operation of motor bikes and scooters, sounds a little unimportant. Sober consideration, however, emphasizes their necessity.

There have been far too many accidents involving these various types of vehicles. By their very nature the two-wheeled cycles are not as safe as four-wheeled cars. They require extra skill for operation and that skill is hampered if the driver is crowded. Nearly every automobile driver gets the jitters when he finds himself close to a motorcycle or motor bike, because he feels the situation is so uncertain. Anything within reason which will promote safety is welcome.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

Editor News-Journal:

I find the editorials in The News-Journal most interesting. I frequently send them to my son, who is a student at Woodward school, Memphis, Tenn. There are a number of young men at the same school from the "Deep South," so thought we might get some ideas from their reaction to the editorial about the colored ex-serviceman who wishes to become a patrolman.

Imagine my surprise to receive this answer from my son: Marion Shy from Atlanta, Ga., asked for the clipping; wanted to send it to an Atlanta paper.

He informed Ralph that Atlanta, for some time, has had colored patrolmen, who are on duty in the colored section of the city, but can arrest white people in that area. It has been most satisfactory, as they have had very little trouble. He also says most of the large cities in the South have colored patrolmen.

The idea could be tried out in Mansfield.

Visit To Supermarket

By CALVIN A. BYERS

IT IS interesting to watch people in a big self-serve supermarket, where foods are in packages upon shelves, sold by appeal to the eye, rather than to taste. Sold by weight, not by food content; by size, not quality.

Read the labels. It is surprising where the stuff comes from. Here are sunshine and vitamins from California, alongside of roots and tubers from Maine. Here are finny deep-sea crops from Alaska and the far Northwest, and piles of bread and cakes made from Minnesota flour. Goobers and farinaceous tubers from below the Mason-Dixon line: pucka melons, and those picked green. It's a kind of gamble, choosing food this way—and all classes of people are affected by it.

I overheard a buxom woman say that she always knew better what to buy when she took her boys along. "They know what they and their daddy like—I go in the afternoon, when they're hungry. They carry the parcels for me. We never skimp on food. It's better than medicine."

"A person can't save a cent, even though wages are high," said another buyer. "We're using up what little we had put by for a rainy day. John says it's not lost, if our family grows up healthy and able to work—sometimes the best way to save something is to use it!"

I pondered that one awhile. The Indians lived in this country a long while before white men came. They didn't save for a rainy day—now look at them. Pushed out of the picture by people bound to "get ahead."

The Swiss, English, German colonists gave farms to the sons and dowers to the daughters. Cooking and homely skills were counted an education for living. Farming and storing of food was dignified worthwhile work for whole families, and they didn't worry about birth control. Children were blessings. Hm.

What is more precious than the food we eat? It ought to be more abundant. The health and well being of every nation depends upon food. I wonder if there will be a time, such as Bellamy dreamed of in his book "Looking Backward," when food, like air and water, will be free and anyone may have access to all he enjoys and needs.

And if that happens, will thrift have outlived its usefulness?
